WILLIAM R. MOODY, EDUCATOR, GUEST OF KIWANIS

Son of Famous Evangelist
Tells of Unique Schools in Massachusetts

William R. Moody, son of the famous evangelist, Dwight L. Moody, was the guest of honor at the Broadway Inn yesterday noon at the weekly luncheon of the Glendale Kiwanis club.

Mr. Moody is president of the Glendale Preparatory schools of Massachusetts, which he said were probably the most exclusive schools in the east—because they refused to enroll any boy or girl with money.

Dr. Jack Anderson of 102 West California avenue, a graduate of the school known as Mt. Hermon, introduced Mr. Moody in terms of great respect. Later he joined Henry Barnhart of Los Angeles, Charles F. Frew of Hollywood and Ted Corel of Burbank.

Three Tenor Solos
Wilbur Herwig of 339 West Colorado street was much applauded following three tenor solos. He was accompanied by Herbert Henning of 1211 North Columbus avenue.

The number included "Adie Marie," by Steven Adams, "Ladies O'Mine" by Walt and "Wee Little Home" by O'Hara.

E. F. Sanders, assistant secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, expressed the appreciation of the club at the honor conferred upon it by the presence of both Mr. Herwig and Mr. Moody.

Character-building accomplished by the Northfield schools were discussed briefly by Mr. Moody, who said that they had been established by his father forty years ago in order to assist boys and girls with the necessary stamps but without resources to obtain educations.

"I am engaged in educational work," he remarked. "I have the less hesitancy in speaking about it because I have seen it come from all parts of the world. You have seen several of our students here today."

Two Special Features
There are two features of the Northfield schools—students pay half the cost of their board and tuition while the balance is paid by those interested in the school.

Last year 3000 alumni contributed to the support of their alma mater. Every boy and girl who (Continued on Page 16)

Present Pageant at Missionary Meeting

A pageant, "At a Well in India," was presented Thursday afternoon at the foreign missionary meeting at the First Methodist church. It was an all-day meeting of the church women and a meeting of the Aid Society in the morning and a luncheon at noon preceded the presentation of the pageant.

An attractive Oriental setting was arranged for the pageant, presented by Mrs. Emma Burket, Mrs. Effie Wright and Mrs. C. W. Spickerman. The scene took place by a well near a group of palm trees and Mrs. Wright portrayed a Hindu child widow; Mrs. Burket a happy wife; and Mrs. Spickerman a native Christian worker.

In addition to the pageant Mrs. W. C. Widows gave a group of vocal numbers.

At the meeting in December the home missionary section will give a program.

Philathea Class Is Entertained at Party

The members of the Philathea class of the First Baptist church Sunday school, of which Miss Sara Pollard is teacher, were entertained at a Halloween party last night at the home of Miss Alice Fitz, 308 North Louise street. The house was decorated with bats, black cats, etc. The lights were turned down and a ghostly figure draped with a sheet gave dire warnings if certain things were done.

Refreshments were served at a very attractively decorated table, where the Halloween motif was carried out in witch place-cards containing fortunes, miniature caldrons and pumpkins and in the colors of orange and black. Those present included Florence Kirk, Mary Circle, Ethel Chase, Sadie Houdyshell, Maude Moody, Alice Fitz, Sarah Pollard, Mrs. F. M. Lord, Mrs. and Mrs. E. O. Fitz and Elmer Fitz, Jr.

Mrs. McEnany Plans Five-Story Building

Mrs. James B. McEnany of 206 West Elk avenue states that she has been informed on numerous occasions recently that she has sold her property at the southwest corner of Brand boulevard and Colorado street, fronting 150 on Brand and 90 feet on Colorado, for the sum of $150,000.

However, Mrs. McEnany says this property has not been sold and is not for sale, as she is getting out plans for a five-story building to be erected there on the expiration of present leases on the property, which will be in about a year and a half.

Alfred Bley Has Strange Visitor In Early Hours

Alfred Bley, a resident at the L. C. Brand estate, had a strange awakening the other morning when he was aroused about daylight by feeling a large animal brushing against his hand, and upon waking up he found his visitor was a big raccoon, which had dropped in for a morning's greeting.

After the greeting it was hard to decide which was the more surprised, Mr. Bley or Mr. Raccoon. Anyway, the former pursued the latter with some bed covering, but the fight became so vigorous that a shot gun had to be resorted to, and Mr. Raccoon, weighing twenty-five pounds, was soon a dead one, sadder, but not much wiser after his intrusion into the abode of man.

Rev. H. C. Mullen Is Given Big Welcome

A most enthusiastic reception was accorded Rev. H. C. Mullen, new pastor of the Pacific Avenue Methodist church, at the church last night. Sharing with him in the honors of the affair were his wife and family, whom he brought recently from Cucamonga, where he was formerly pastor.

Chrysanthemums and dahlias with autumnal colors decorated the church rooms for the reception, which was attended by the majority of the church members and many of their friends.

Entertainment was furnished by Mrs. Evelyn Labadie, Miss Lila Litch, Miss Maurine Baker and Henry Beiderman of the Emerson School of Self-Expression. Their program included musical numbers and dramatic readings.

Following the program Rev. Mullen was welcomed to the church pastorate by representatives of the various departments of the church organization. Those speaking were George Moore, president of the board of trustees; Mrs. M. L. Ogden, of the Aid Society; Mrs. C. Stevenson of the missionary organization; Harold Hemmingsway, president of the Epworth League; Mrs. Geo. Moore, superintendent of the primary department; John Campbell, superintendent of the Sunday school; and Rev. W. W. Cookman, former pastor of the church.

At the close of these speeches there was a response given by Rev. Mullen.

Glendale 'Hi' Squad Dined by Visitors

The members of Glendale Union high school football squad were tendered a banquet and reception by the members of Citrus Union high school team, whom they played against at Citrus yesterday in a game resulting in a 6 to 0 score.

Coach Butterfield and Rex C. Kelley, local Y. M. C. A. secretary, were also guests. A great deal of keen rivalry has existed between the two schools and the banquet was given for the purpose of establishing a better understanding and good fellowship between the two teams.

Captain Robertson and also the coach of the Citrus team gave interesting talks, responded to by Fred Stoff of Glendale, Howard Butterfield and Mr. Kelly. The banquet room was decorated in both Citrus and Glendale colors and the meal was served by the members of the Girls' League of Citrus high school. After the banquet the guests adjourned to the auditorium where a play was given. The local team returned to Glendale about 8:30 o'clock.

FIGURES ALWAYS TELL THE TRUTH

The business-getting power of The Glendale Evening News in publishing classified liners is 74 per cent greater than the Glendale Express insert for the month of October.

The total number of inches of classified liners published in The Evening News for the month of October was 6,981

The total number of inches of classified liners published in the Express insert for the month of October was 4,003

That October was no exception to the rule of The Evening News being a business getter, the records of September show The Evening News 75 per cent ahead of the Express insert in volume of classified liners. The figures for September:

Total number of inches in The Evening News.....6,488
Total number of inches in the Express insert.....3,701

Display advertising in The Evening News showed for the two months ending October 31, a lead of 28 per cent over that of the Express insert for the same period. The figures:

The Evening News display.....43,003
The Express insert.....33,560

The reason for this remarkable volume in favor of the Evening News is very evident—The Evening News is a 100 per cent Glendale publication, and a complete newspaper in itself. The Express insert is conducted mainly as a "business feeder" for the Los Angeles Express.

The Evening News prides itself on being a Glendale product. The above figures show Glendale business interests are for "The Home-Town Paper."

A most cordial welcome was extended to Mr. and Mrs. Frank Porter Stearns, who have recently returned from a combined wedding trip and tour of the east covering a period of four months, at a party given last night by the members of Glen Eyrle chapter, O. Brewster, dramatic teacher of Glendale Union high school, "The Young Man Waited," "Don't Know" and "Tony." Frank Booth read an original poem dedicated to Mrs. Cora Hickman Stearns.

Escorted Through Aisle
The past matrons and patrons retired to the ante-room and on marching into the chapter room formed an aisle through which Mrs. Stearns was escorted by Mrs. Parke, worthy matron, and Mr. Redd, worthy patron. The past matrons and patrons of Glen Eyrle chapter include Mrs. Cora Hickman Stearns and G. U. Moyse, 1906-07; Mrs. Elizabeth Imler and David H. On behalf of the members of Glen Eyrle the worthy matron, Mrs. Parke, presented Mrs. Stearns with a gift, a beautiful framed picture of "The Garden of Allah." As spokesmen for the past matrons and patrons Mrs. Daniel Campbell presented her with a set of teaspoons. Mrs. Stearns responded with an expression of appreciation and also of pleasure at the growth of the chapter, which has added eighty-two new members thus far this year.

Tables were then arranged in the chapter room, which had been most attractively decorated for the occasion with bouquets and baskets. (Continued on Page 3).

Dr. Russell is at present working out committees for the women's organization and announcement of the names will be made early this coming week.

Sunday School Holds Annual Stunt Play

Friday evening occurred the first annual stunt play of the Tropico Presbyterian Sunday school. It was a community affair, to which all the friends as well as the parents of the one hundred and fifty pupils of the school were invited.

Each class prepared a stunt, and they were, indeed, clever, as presented by the members in the contest, which was won by the pupils of Mrs. Hyer's class.

The prize was one dollar, given by the Sunday school, to be used by the class in buying materials for completing their part in preparing the missionary boxes which the school is sending away.

The members regretted very much the absence of their pastor, Rev. Winnard, who was unable to be present because of a cold.

Another Close Call for E. de Valera

DUBLIN, Nov. 4.—Eamonn de Valera, leader of the Irish Republican irregulars, narrowly escaped capture today when free state troops stormed and raided a house, wounding and capturing "General" O'Malley, chief of the staff of the irregular army.

Sheila Humphries, a woman rebel leader, was wounded in the fighting.

When troops approached the house and opened fire, the inmates replied and a severe battle followed.

It was understood that the free states' attack was due to information that the republicans were planning a week-end coup.

Many civilians have been arrested.

Presence of De Valera in this city was revealed by the G.I.s.

AVIATORS IN NON-STOP FLIGHT FORCED TO LAND
INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Nov. 4.—Forced to land here after traveling 2060 miles from San Diego, Cal., and setting a new world's record for non-stop distance flying, Lieutenants J. A. Macready and Oakley Kelly, attempting a non-stop flight across the continent, hopped off here in a borrowed plane at 10:50 o'clock for Dayton, Ohio.

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 4.—Lieutenants Macready and Kelly, attempting to make a spectacular non-stop air flight from San Diego, Cal., to Mineola, L. I., were forced to land this morning at Fort Benjamin Harrison, just outside of Indianapolis, because of machine trouble. "The last 1600 miles of our flight were made under great difficulties," Lieutenant Kelly said. "The nature of the radio trouble appeared serious enough, mechanics at Fort Harrison said, to make it doubtful whether the T-2 would hop off today. After this statement was made Lieutenant Kelly conceded it improbable that an effort to resume the trip would be made today. The aviators intended following the national highway which parallels the Pennsylvania railroad to Richmond and Dayton but deviated from the course about fifteen miles west of Indianapolis and flew over the north edge of the city and to the army post. The time from Terre Haute to Indianapolis was one hour and twenty minutes, which showed plainly the difficulty that was being experienced. The aviators, worn by their long vigil, were taciturn. Gratification was expressed, however, that a new non-stop record had been made, although they had not not accomplished their purpose of making the entire trip. The 2060 miles in twenty-five hours represents a new mark in the history of aviation. The longest previous non-stop flight of record was said to have been 1915 miles.

JOHN W. LAWSON IS HONOR GUEST AT BIG BANQUET

Many Friends Gather to Pay
Tribute to Builder of First Four-Story Structure

The vision of a sky-line of skyscrapers rivaling in grandeur the silhouette of the Verdugo Hills was vividly depicted in oratorical after-dinner speeches last night in the Chamber of Commerce banquet room.

John W. Lawson, who is erecting a four-story building to cost $175,000 on the southwest corner of Brand boulevard and Wilson avenue, was the guest of honor. Mrs. Lawson and daughter, Miss Edna Lawson, were presented to the guests of the evening, also.

Marjorie B. Jones, who conceived the idea of the banquet as a tribute to one of Glendale's builders, acted as toastmaster. He was introduced by Alex. Mitchell.

"Our guest of honor this evening," stated Mr. Jones, "has certainly been guilty of a sincere endeavor to do not only honor to himself and family in the erection of such a building but honors the community in making it stand out in more ways than one."

Great Enterprise
"When you, in a few weeks, look out and see this four-story building, you will realize that this was a great enterprise. It is a good thing, a highly appropriate thing for some of his neighbors and friends to get together and give him a banquet."

"I wonder who will be the next to erect a fine building upon some of these fine corners of Glendale?"

A humorous after-dinner speech was made by Mayor Spencer Robinson, behind the snowdrifts of a full dress suit. He attempted to compare Mr. Lawson with Mark Antony, but Cleopatra kept getting in the way.

"John Lawson is a 'live-one!'" exclaimed Mr. Robinson. "John Lawson was born in New York state, but when a boy of 15 years of age he moved to Michigan because he had won all the other boys' marbles and tops and roller skates and jackknives. John was a natural born trader. He did not know how to be educated at Harvard because God gave him the gift of accumulating money."

C. OF C. AT EAGLE ROCK WILL MEET NEXT TUESDAY

First Meeting Since New Directors Took Office; Expect Big Crowd

The regular open meeting of the Eagle Rock Chapter of Commerce set for Tuesday, November 7, is to be held in the office of the Eagle Rock Daily News.

This was decided upon at the meeting of the executive officers of the Chamber that met at the home of President O. J. Root, on Thursday night.

Invitations to each member had previously been mailed naming the city hall as the place where the meeting was to be held, but it was later found that the city hall would be closed the evening of November 7, to allow election officials to count the votes, and therefore would not be available as a meeting place for the Chamber.

George Van Sands, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, and who also is in charge of the office of the Eagle Rock Daily News, tendered the use of the firm's large office at 113 East Colorado boulevard when it was found that the city hall would not be available, whereupon it was then officially decided to accept Mr. Van Sands' offer.

A large attendance is expected at this meeting which is the first open meeting of the Chamber since the election of the new officers early in October.

Many very important matters that have been taken under consideration by the officers since their election will be brought up for final sanction of the members. Standing committees named by the officers will also be presented at the open meeting for verification.

Plans of the entertainment committee who have charge of the big Chamber of Commerce banquet that is to be held the evening of November 16, at the Twentieth Century Woman's club are also expected to be approved.

It is generally believed that the new officers have the entire confidence and backing of the entire membership, and that the first open meeting will draw a large attendance.

Lawyers' Bill Will Meet Defeat, Claim

Straw votes taken in every part of the state indicate a two-to-one sentiment against proposition No. 24 on Tuesday's ballot—generally known as the Lawyers' Bill, according to word just received by local bankers from Hiram J. Wambold, special representative of the California Bankers for Southern California.

"The fight against the Lawyers' Bill, No. 24, has drawn support from every class of business people in the state," Wambold asserts. "Every class but one—the lawyers—the only ones favoring this obscure and indefinite piece of class legislation."

"The California Bankers' association twice has unanimously declared that the public interest demands the defeat of No. 24. The State Federation of Labor unanimously deprecates the bill, declaring it a plot to establish an air-tight lawyers' monopoly." In the north, the Civic League of Improvement Clubs and Associations has urged its members to defeat the measure and fifty-three local realty boards, ninety-one daily newspapers, 259 weekly newspapers, the California State Orange and the Big Four Railroad Brotherhood are all openly urging "Vote No. 24."

"The battle of these important bodies, with which are joined scores of women's clubs and social organizations is not against the bar but against a measure which no one understands fully but which threatens to hamper every business man and woman in California and make the law more complicated and more costly."

BALL GAME EAGLE ROCK TOMORROW

Los Angeles and Local Nine Will Endeavor to Win Championship Match

What is expected to be one of the best baseball games played in Eagle Rock this fall is scheduled for Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock, when the Eagle Rock merchants will play the Los Angeles County Flood Control team at Eagle Rock park.

Inasmuch as the Merchants are a strictly Eagle Rock team, every member of which either lives or does business in Eagle Rock, and the great majority of the Flood Control boys also make their home in Eagle Rock, the game will attract considerable local interest, as there is known to be considerable rivalry between the two teams.

Both managers claim their respective teams are in tip-top shape, on their toes and ready to go.

The Merchants line-up follows: Lundy, catcher; Hoetinger, first base; Fisher, second base; Scofield, third base; Connor, fourth base; Hecox, right field; Keltner, left field; and Watts at short. Manager Hancock will choose either Berry, Stice or Gee to do the twirling.

Eagle Rock Church Women Meet Tuesday

The Ladies' Aid of the Congregational church will meet next Tuesday, November 7, at an all-day meeting with Mrs. W. J. Roach, 1153 North Royal drive. The ladies will not need to worry about not getting to the polls to vote as there will be cars there to take them to vote any time they want to go.

Two Lights Taken From Parked Auto

Milton H. Berry, Jr., Eagle Rock real estate man, reported to the police this morning that the two front headlights of his new automobile had been stolen. It is understood that the theft occurred yesterday afternoon when Berry had left a foot ball game in Los Angeles. The two lamps are said to be valued at about $50.

This country has 36,984 garages.

WETS ENDORSE LINEBERGER

Official Action of National Association Fighting Prohibition and Wright Law is Stated in Letter

To Voters of the Ninth Congressional District:

A startling climax has been reached in the campaign for congressman in the Ninth district. The wet forces are out in the open advising the re-election of W. F. Lineberger, as indicated in the following amazing frank letter just received from the organization which is in charge of the entire national campaign against prohibition, as well as against the Wright enforcement act in California:

National Headquarters The Association Against the Prohibition Amendment (Incorporated) 511 Eleventh St., N. W. Washington, D. C.

Oct. 18, 1922.

Mr. G. K. Hubbard, 573 Illinois Ave., Riverside, California.

My Dear Mr. Hubbard:

I beg to acknowledge receipt of your letter of September 27th with contribution of twenty-five cents, and I am enclosing herewith one of our regular applications for membership, which I trust you will fill in and return at your earliest convenience.

In the Ninth district there is rather an interesting situation. Lineberger, the incumbent, has consistently voted dry; however, his opponent, Charles H. Randall, is so rabidly dry as to detract from Lineberger's dry support to such an extent that Lineberger will probably come out openly in favor of our platform. He has not done so yet but under present conditions Lineberger is the man to vote for in the Ninth district.

For your information I am attaching a list of wet candidates which has been released for publication in today's papers.

Yours very truly, (Signed) G. C. Hinckley, Secretary-Treasurer.

Our W. C. T. U. Federation has, from the beginning, endorsed the Hon. Charles H. Randall for Congress in this district because of his unexcelled record during three terms in the Lower House.

Our judgment in this action is now overwhelmingly confirmed by the above letter.

Very sincerely yours, LURA HYDEN BOLEY, President of Long Beach Federation, W. C. T. U.

Jury In Wilkens' Case Is Locked Up

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 4.—After the jury which has been trying Henry Wilkens, garage man, for wife murder had failed to reach a verdict last night following nearly five hours of deliberation, it was locked up at 11 o'clock and did not resume deliberation until 10 o'clock this morning.

Several ballots were taken, it was reported, which showed a division of either 11 to 1, or 10 to 2. One woman, according to underground rumors, was holding up the body, although these same rumors had it that there was hope of an ultimate agreement.

Two Trains on S. P. Collide; One Dead

WACO, Texas, Nov. 4.—One man was killed and another probably fatally injured at Bremond, 43 miles southeast of here, this morning, when the Southern Pacific fast San Antonio-Dallas train crashed into the rear of a sleeper on train No. 65, en route to Waco.

The dead man is said to be a Mr. Willett of New York. The name of the injured man, who is said to be still in the wreckage, was not learned. From details received here, the Waco train was on a siding and the other train crashed through the switch on to the siding instead of continuing on the main line.

Fire Chief Opposes State Housing Act

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 4.—Fire Chief Thomas R. Murphy of San Francisco, has declared himself an opponent of the state housing act, which appears on the November ballot as referendum measure No. 5.

"There is no legitimate excuse," Fire Chief Murphy said, "for the people of California, or certain fire chiefs throughout California who have gained a mistaken idea of the law, to vote for the outlawing of wooden shingled roofs in California, and that is what the state housing act will accomplish if not defeated November 7."

"The fire chiefs who are in favor of the state housing act," Fire Chief Murphy continued, "have been using innocently as a catspaw to pull the chestnuts out of the fire for the patent roofing interest. They are made to argue that wooden shingles are a menace to safety, that the lives of women and children are at stake and are even writing letters asking support to a measure which is but a part of the roofing manufacturers' campaign to substitute their material for shingles and to carry that substitution down to the modest home in the smallest village. There is no need for such drastic action and I believe, no need for the fire chiefs to inject themselves into the fight of the patent roofing manufacturers against the California shingle industry. Building regulations, so far as fireproof roofs are concerned, should be taken care of in city ordinances and not be foisted on the people of California in a blanket measure such as the state housing act."

Fire Chief Murphy's attention was directed to a statement compiled from a committee of fire chiefs,

Series of Robberies In Glendale Homes

Dr. H. R. Boyer's home at 232 North Orange street was entered between the hours of 1:30 and 4:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon. A door to the sleeping porch at the rear of the house was forced open. A man was seen going into the front door of the house about 3 o'clock but he was thought to be a member of the household. It is now believed that he was a partner to the man who went in the back way.

The bedrooms of Mrs. Boyer and Mrs. L. B. Greely were both ransacked. The loot comprised the wedding ring of Mrs. Greely, which was taken out of the dresser drawer, and a solid gold neck-piece. Three gold watches belonging to the Boyer family were stolen and a very fine ring of pearls brought back recently from Europe. Some Sheffield silver was taken but solid silver along side of it on the buffet was neglected.

Owing to the fact that the Frank B. Stoner home at 228 North Orange street was ransacked Wednesday afternoon, it was believed that a visit would be paid to the same neighborhood by "Glendale's visitors."

O. T. Walker of 121 North Orange street notified the police department late yesterday afternoon that two men climbed over his rear fence. When he asked them what they wanted one of them said they wanted to wash their hands. They went out in the yard and kept their heads turned so that Mr. Walker could not get a good view of their faces.

Jewelry valued at over $1000 was taken yesterday afternoon from the home at 631 North Central avenue occupied by Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Mailloux and their six children. Miss Grace Mailloux, Miss Helen Mailloux, Robert William, Arthur and Edmond, who arrived in Glendale two months ago from Windsor, Canada. The house was vacant only about an hour yesterday afternoon and it is believed that the burglary was committed at this time.

The two main bedrooms of the home were ransacked but nothing which could not be pocketed was stolen. The principal item taken was a diamond ring given to Mr. Mailloux by his mother twenty-five years ago. Naturally, he would not have parted with it for more than its value. Two other diamond rings were taken also. One, with a twin-setting was valued at $150 and another with a single setting was worth about $100. A $50 wrist watch belonging to Miss Grace Mailloux was taken and several other watches. A string of pearls belonging to Mrs. Mailloux were taken while another string of pearls belonging to Miss Helen Mailloux were overlooked. Diamond-studded cuff links, which Mr. Mailloux had not been wearing for fear he would lose them were removed from their plush box.

The family feels fortunate in having deposited unregistered liberty bonds recently in a safe deposit vault. They had intended to place some of the liberty bonds there, too, but had neglected to do so. A large chest of silver, which was unlocked, was not disturbed. A $20 bill hidden under a box was not taken. It is believed that the house was examined very hastily.

Clem Moore Promises to Beat J. Frost

"It's going to be a powerful long winter," is the general prediction, but Clem Moore of 201 North Brand boulevard, says, "Why not enjoy California's delightful winter weather by installing a Toledo gas floor furnace."

Mr. Moore has sold the Toledo furnace for eleven years and is the exclusive agent of the Pacific coast. It is the first gas furnace of its kind ever made, and it is manufactured in Toledo, Ohio.

"A Toledo furnace," says Mr. Moore "can be installed in a new or old house and I am glad to give estimates for installing. It is the most economical heater on the market, heats more space for less cost and does not burn up all the air in the house and result in stuffiness. Another feature is the neat attractive floor registers that harmonize with any style of architecture and artistic set in hardwood floors."

"There are hundreds of thousands of Toledo furnace users in the United States, but there are none more satisfied than the 1,000 Glendalians who have Toledo furnaces installed in their homes and are comfortably looking forward to the coldest weather the winter may have in store for Southern California."

The Glendale

An outlow can go on being bad until the Northwest Mounted gets on his trail. Then he stops being bad or he stops—breathing. Proof of this is seen in "Trooper O'Neil" being shown today at the Glendale Theatre.

In addition to this film there is also a clever vaudeville program of songs, dances and comedies. "Where Is My Wandering Boy Tonight?" will be shown at the Glendale Sunday and Monday. Virginia True Boardman and Cullen Landis are leads in the film, picturing from a country store to Broadway; from the farm to swell jazz cafes; from sublime love to ridiculous infatuation; from right thinking and clean living to prison bars; from mastery of heart to mastery of soul; all this and more in "Where Is My Wandering Boy Tonight?"

The T. D. & L.

Manager Allan has to say for Saturday and Sunday, "Lopos Oriental band, Ham Hamilton's latest comedy, 'The Speeder,' and Paramount's feature film, 'The Spanish Jade,' with David Powell and Ann Forest in the big line-up are events at the T. D. & L. theatre for tonight."

"Lopos Oriental band is about the most unique offering of its kind on the vaudeville stage and is composed of seven Chinese-Hawaiians, who are wizards with their instruments."

"Sunday at the T. D. & L. will offer 'More To Be Pitted Than Scorned,' the famous stage play brought to the movies with Alice Lake, Philo McCollough and others. There will be a Harold Lloyd comedy also."

Annual Stunt Party Offers Lively Scenes

Glendale Union High school gymnasium between the hours of 7:15 and 10:45 last night was the scene of a lively time at the girls' annual stunt party under the auspices of the Girls' League.

The affair is considered a real success by Mrs. Ethel Moyle, vice-principal for girls, who commented this morning on the splendid courtesy shown by boys of the school in not disturbing the party in any way.

The party, to which every girl in the school was invited, was divided into two sections but the stunts were duplicated. Senior and junior girls occupied the boys' gymnasium and freshmen and sophomore girls had the use of the girls' gym.

The senior class received recognition for presenting the best stunt. It consisted of "A Scene from the Movies." Those participating represented all of the characters of the cinema.

Second place went to the Freshmen class which presented a scene from Egypt. Miss Laura Moyle played the part of Mark Antony and Miss Barbara Kranz was Cleopatra. Miss Mary Barbara Taylor a giraffe, furnished local color. An Egyptian dance was interpreted by Miss Marcelle Kohl. When Mark Antony had fallen on his sword, Cleo failed to find an insurance policy and muttered something about having nothing to live "on" and called for a snake, which was the jack-in-the-box variety. After she had expired more or less gracefully a placard was put up stating "Absolutely Dead."

A parade of different types of girls was staged by the junior class. The athletic girl, the vampire girl, the professional girl, the home-maker, the flapper and the dilettante were all in line.

A baby show was managed by the sophomore class. Youngsters had a great time with rattles, baby buggies, bottles and go-carts and other toys. It was quite a noise-some stunt.

Two stunts were put on by the faculty. One was a family quarrel in which the only conversation was the alphabet. The other was a soiree in darktown in which Miss Mary Gladys Correy as a Creole belle received a number of suitors. All action was pantomime.

Prize waltzes were credited to Miss Cleo Redd and Miss Olive Finn, of the junior-senior group, and Miss Winifred Brewer and Miss Elizabeth Brewer of the freshman-sophomore group.

Dressed as a male musician with "flowing mane" and a wild look, Miss Hazel Linkogel won first prize in the junior-senior group for her costume.

In the freshman-sophomore group Miss Daisy Whitsell, who impersonated an old woman, won first prize.

Judges had been instructed to disregard rented costumes and pay attention to originality.

Studebaker Autos Increased In Price

An increase in the price of Studebaker Big Six cars was announced last night by Don Packer, of the Packer Auto company, Glendale agents. The increase will range from $125 to $50, depending on the size of the car. While this order was effective yesterday, Mr. Packer stated that it will in no wise apply to customers who have already placed orders for cars.

Mr. Packer also said that although the raise on the Studebaker is considered a small one, it is worthy of attention in that it appears to be a forerunner of the "price flights" to be taken by automobiles generally in the near future.

Sultan of Turkey Refuses to Resign

CONSTANTINOPLE, Nov. 4.—Sultan Mohammed VI today had refused to obey the resolution adopted by the Turkish national assembly at Angora deposing him and abolishing the office entirely. Mohammed VI attended the private selamlik ceremony of the Mohammedan faith and later held a conference with his advisers.

It was believed generally that, in view of the hostility of the Turkish nationalists, Mohammed VI would abdicate.

Clara Phillips on Verge of Collapse

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Nov. 4.—Reported to be on the verge of collapse following her ordeal of a day and a half on the witness stand, Mrs. Clara Phillips, now on trial for the "hammer murder" of Alberta Meadows, was under the care of physicians at the county jail today.

Today was a "holiday" in the trial, as there are no court sessions on Saturday. Defense Attorney Bert Herrington announced that when court resumes Monday, one of his first moves will be to call the five alienists who have examined Mrs. Phillips and declare she had the mentality of a child. To each of these witnesses, Herrington will propound a hypothetical question which consists of sixteen pages of typewriting.

The defense is expected to close its case the first of next week. From present calculations the case will go to the jury the latter part of the week.

Future Wars Will Be In Air; B. Law

LEEDS, Eng., Nov. 4.—Premier Andrew Bonar Law revealed in a speech here today that he believes future wars will be determined in the air.

"The center of our safety has changed," said the premier, "I think that the air will be more dangerous than the seas in future warfare."

ATTACK ON BANKS REFUTED

Superintendent of Banks Dodge Proves that the California Banks and Trust Companies
Are Honest and Safe

Hon. Jonathan S. Dodge

State Superintendent of Banks
Says, under date of October 28, 1922

"There is no record that any losses have been sustained by the beneficiaries of any trust resulting from any misappropriation or maladministration of trust estates by any officer or employe of any trust company. If there have been any shortages, they have been of a minor character which have been made good by the management of the banks in which they have occurred.

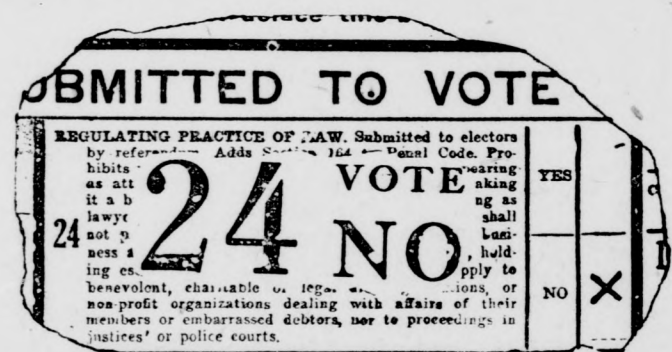

"I have no record that the beneficiaries of any trust which has been under the supervision of the State Banking Department have ever suffered any loss of their trust funds by the reason of the failure or liquidation of any trust company or trust department.

"My office has no record of any bank administering court trusts ever being removed by a court from its fiduciary capacity for incompetence, negligence in its duties, misappropriation or other misconduct.

"There is no record of any bank administering court trusts ever being compelled by court judgment or ordered to make good any shortage in their accounts or to otherwise remedy evidences of misconduct, fraud, or negligence in the performance of their duties.

"The records of my office do not show that any creator or any beneficiary under any trust with a trust company in this state has ever filed a charge of misconduct in which it was shown that any loss had been suffered through any irregularity of any such trust company.

"My office has no information that any person interested in any trust being administered by any California Trust Company has ever filed and collected any claim from the state treasurer of California against the funds deposited with him for the benefit and protection of court and private trusts."

LACKING any real reason or argument why the voters of California should tie their own hands with the Lawyers' Bill (Proposition 24) designed and intended to make the law business more profitable--- Some of the supporters of that measure have tried to raise a SMOKE CLOUD by a concerted attack upon the honesty and the good faith of the Bankers and the Trust Companies of California.

Their attack upon the ethical practices and the responsibility of Trust Companies is evidently intended to undermine the confidence of the people in the Banks and Trust Companies.

THE RECORDS SHOW THESE ATTACKS ARE FALSE

The Superintendent of Banks, who supervises banks and trust companies and the large deposits of approved securities with the State Treasurer to insure the faithful performance of their trust business, shows the record of Trust Companies is without one single instance of misconduct.

The attack upon the Banks must fail of its purpose.
Do not be deceived---

The Banks and Trust Companies of California are honestly and efficiently administered and your property is absolutely safe in their care.

BIG INCREASE IN CALIFORNIA SALES

Jump of 37 Per Cent Shown in September Compared With Last Year

An increase of 37 per cent was registered in California in new motor car and truck sales during the month of September, 1922, in comparison with the volume during the same period of 1921, according to figures made public in the October issue of Motor Registration News, printed in Oakland.

The total automobile and truck sales aggregated 15,746. Of this quantity, 13,992 are represented by passenger cars and the balance of 1854 commercial vehicles.

It was the third largest month of the year in this state for each classification. An increase, though slight, is noted in passenger car business compared to October. Trucks, however, fell somewhat behind the August showing made by this branch of the industry.

Southern California is credited in Motor News report with a net gain of 38 per cent and Northern California went 35 per cent ahead of its 1921 comparison.

South in Lead
In volume of registration the South leads both in truck and passenger car sales, the figures for the eleven southern counties in September being 7888 passenger cars and 922 trucks. In the northern forty-seven counties, 6014 passenger cars were bought and 912 trucks.

Los Angeles again leads all other counties by a wide margin. Its total of 5709 sales is greater than the volume of the next twelve counties combined. These twelve sold 5615. Los Angeles County gained 40 per cent over September of 1921, a healthy performance when it is remembered that in September of 1921 this same county also booked a big gain over the same month of 1920.

San Francisco County is second with 1209 sales, and a 31 per cent increase. Alameda County comes third with 912 passenger car sales, a gain of 47 per cent.

Adjust All Doors

When the doors of one side of the body of an automobile do not fit properly, either binding so that they are hard to close or fit too loosely with so much clearance that the catch will not snap, the trouble may be remedied by placing wooden wedges under the body at the rear. Metal plates also may be used. In either case, the wedge should be bolted through the frame so that it will remain firmly in place.

AUTO MEN MEET IN CONVENTION

Affair at Santa Barbara Is Attended by Several Hundred Delegates

One of the best meetings ever held in the history of the organization, was staged by the California Automobile Trade Association, at Santa Barbara recently. The event was the general convention of the association, attended by several hundred delegates from all parts of California.

The first day was given over to craft meetings, with a banquet topped off the day with speeches by experts, including Captain M. A. Phillips of a Santa Barbara newspaper.

The general meeting was held the second day with other speakers officiating, and reports from the crafts.

The main event, so to speak, was the election of officers of the association which was held the second day, as the beginning of new business.

Harry E. Mason of Los Angeles was elected president to succeed George Haberfeld, who has held the office for several years. U. S. Grant, of San Diego and Charles Danton of Riverside, were elected vice presidents of the southern division of the association.

George R. Murphy and Walter B. Fawcett, vice-presidents of the northern division, were elected secretary-manager-treasurer, unanimously. He has held that position since the inception of the state organization several years ago.

The garage and repair craft, recommended a series of educational studies for mechanics in an effort to improve the quality and skill of the men who repair motor cars. They did not adopt the resolution to license mechanics.

One of the things of great importance to the association was the adoption of the by-laws, which were passed after much discussion by all the delegates. The matter of legislation, which will come before the governing bodies at Sacramento next January was also discussed.

Use For Trucks

They even use trucks for hearses in Japan. When the Marquis Okuma died an elaborate casket designed in replica of a miniature pagoda was mounted on a White truck and carried to Hibiya Park, Tokyo, where an impressive public funeral service was conducted.

USE OF MIRRORS AVOIDS CRASHES

Members of Good Roads Board of A. A. A. Urge Laws Be Enacted

Accidents on the highways could be greatly decreased by the passage of uniform state laws requiring every truck to carry a mirror, giving a view of the road immediately to the rear and by requiring every horse-drawn vehicle as well as automobile, to display some sort of light when using the roads at night.

This is the opinion of M. O. Eldridge, director of roads of the American Automobile Association Good Roads Board, after making a careful digest of the traffic laws of all the states of the union. Mr. Eldridge, in a report to the secretary of commerce, sets forth that thirteen states have laws requiring the mirror on trucks, but that very few have any regulation for horse-drawn vehicles. The states requiring mirrors on trucks are Vermont, Washington, California, Connecticut, New York, Indiana, Kentucky, Maryland, Massachusetts, Michigan, Missouri, New Jersey and the District of Columbia.

Trucks Need Them
"Motor trucks need mirrors as they travel at a slower rate of speed than passenger cars, and the noise of the engine completely drowns out, in many instances, the horn of the motorist behind, who is blowing for the road," said Mr. Eldridge. "Often they will swerve about the time the passenger car is about to pass, and this means an accident. As for the light on a horse-drawn vehicle, the need for it is obvious, as a motorist, coming up behind such a vehicle and perhaps blinded by the headlights of a car coming from the opposite direction, cannot see the horse-drawn vehicle until he is right on it. I believe that uniform state laws on these two subjects will go far toward decreasing the number of accidents which take daily toll of life and the A. A. A. will do all in its power to aid in obtaining such laws."

Plan Motorist Hotels

Work has started in Sacramento on the first of a chain of twenty hotels for motorists, extending from Vancouver, B. C., on the north, through Washington, Oregon, California and parts of Nevada and terminating at San Diego, on the south. These hotels will be one day's automobile run apart, an average distance of 120 miles, all easily accessible by paved highways.

'RIGHT OF WAY' CAUSES TROUBLE

Can Avoid Fatal Accidents If Drivers Adhere to Rule, Is Opinion

If every automobile driver will adhere strictly to the code of giving the car on the right the right of way, many of the fatal automobile accidents that shock the readers of the daily papers every day can be avoided.

This is the opinion of Dal H. Lewis, active executive chairman of the American Automobile association, who has been studying driving regulations for many years.

"No automobile driver should be compelled to watch both sides of the street," said Lewis. "The rule of the road, both in the city and in the open country, is that the driver on the right has the right of way and there should be a severe punishment for any person who violates that rule."

"The increasing number of automobiles that congest traffic in the cities brings more and more to the front the question of right of way."

National Park Roads Will Be Improved

In spite of the marked increase in travel, particularly motor travel from year to year that has been recorded by the various national parks with few exceptions, practically no funds have been provided for road construction improvement, the road situation in various parks having been taken care of almost entirely out of the limited funds provided for maintenance purposes.

In Yosemite, for example, where the federal government owns and maintains 138 miles of roads, which were for the most part built forty to fifty years ago as mere wagon trails, by private capital and later reverting to the government, no money has ever been appropriated specifically for road construction except for the building of the El Portal road from Yosemite Valley to the park boundary near El Portal, a section eight miles in length.

The high mountain roads in Yosemite, such as the Wawona, Big Oak Flat, Glacier Point and Tioga roads, remain essentially in the same condition as when built, unsuitable in every way for present day travel and very difficult to maintain in even reasonable state of repair.

Similar conditions obtain in a number of national parks, and, realizing the absolute necessity of better roads for the use of the hundreds of thousands of visitors who visit the parks annually and at an ever increasing rate, the secretary of the interior has submitted to the bureau of the budget for transmittal to Congress a road construction budget which calls for an expenditure of $7,296,000 to be expended over a three-year period, beginning July 1, 1923.

Yosemite's allotment from this amount would be $1,500,000 to be expended at the rate of $500,000 per year. This program contemplates principally the paving of the roads on the floor of Yosemite Valley, twenty miles, and the reconstruction and surfacing of the Wawona road, twenty miles; the Big Oak Flat road, fourteen miles, and parts of the Tioga road, twenty-five miles; a total mileage of seventy-nine miles.

With the completion of this program, Yosemite's existing road system will be for the most part placed in a condition comparable with the best maintained highways in the state, and certainly the secretary's action in putting this program in line for congressional action will be met with favor by the many thousands of California visitors to Yosemite, and should have the support of the entire state.

Extra Oil Can

The prudent motorist will always carry an extra oil can on his trip, empty and clean, ready to be filled with whatever is necessary, gasoline for priming the cylinders or cleaning spark plugs, neatfoot oil for the clutch, kerosene to clean dirt out of the corners or oil in case the other can is lost.

AUTO BUGS AND BUGGIES

By Morris

AUTOMOBILE FOOT IS NEW DISEASE

Malady Suffered by Many Auto Drivers Can Be Avoided, Word.

"Automobile foot," a new disease, discovered by Dr. Charles Cross of San Francisco, created somewhat of a sensation when officially introduced by the Golden Gate physician in Chicago recently at the fifth annual convention of Physical Therapists.

Dr. Cross explained that habitual wearing of pointed shoes by many motorists had tended to weaken their feet, due to cramping and overlapping of the bones. As a result, when the foot is held for long periods on the accelerator button, or quick thrust on brake or clutch pedal occurs, a lesion or bruise is effected which is the signal for "automobile foot" to set in, accompanied by acute pains, starting usually in the second toe and running down into the ball of the foot.

The doctor said these pains may persist for some time before the patient begins to realize the cause, and the new affliction often thus has opportunity to become quite flagrant before medical aid is sought.

Free Rides Result in Many Runaways

"Don't help boys and girls run away from home by giving them free auto rides."

Sorrow is caused in hundreds of Southern California homes by thoughtless motorists who give children "lifts" along the roads and streets, according to the Automobile Club of Southern California officials.

County juvenile authorities throughout the southern and central sections of California have prepared figures to show that ninety per cent of all runaways are caused by free auto rides given to boys and girls by motorists.

It is also pointed out by the Auto club's legal department that motorists who pick up strangers in their cars are liable for heavy damages if the stranger is injured due to the carelessness of the driver—and an accident may happen at any time.

Besides the actual danger of getting hit over the head by one of these youths who often do not hesitate to use a piece of lead pipe if the opportunity presents itself, is the encouragement given to the boys to leave their mothers, often penniless, and start out to see the world for themselves, soon becoming hoboes.

Southern California, it is pointed out, is the most heavily motorized section of country in the world, and motorists must use more discretion here than elsewhere to withstand the pleas of the boys to hail them from the roadside. The practice is becoming prevalent with school children also, says the Auto club, and they should not be encouraged.

If you have done an injury, go like a man, and acknowledge and repair it.

Removing Cylinders

In removing the cylinder block from the chassis the utmost care must be taken not to injure the parts. It is very easy to spring the rods out of true if the cylinders are not lifted off straight. For this reason in removing these parts one person should do the handling while a second takes care that no injury is done to the pistons or rods.

Show Big Increase

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28.—Returns compiled by the Canadian department of customs indicate a 600 per cent increase of motor traffic into Canada. Automobiles entering Canada for touring purposes during the year totaled 617,285, compared with 93,360 for the previous year.

Speeders Held

REDDING, Cal., Oct. 28.—Bootleggers and auto speeders furnished most of the income of the Shasta county courts during the last twelve months, figures compiled today showed. Of $14,000 collected in fines, bootleggers paid $12,000 under the county's "little Volstead" law and speeders paid most of the remainder.

Makers In U. S.

Throughout the United States there are 82 passenger automobile manufacturers and 51 truck makers. Of this total, more than 50 cars and trucks are made in Detroit, and more than 60 in the state of Michigan. These figures do not take into consideration the body, radiator and equipment factories in Detroit.

Much Gas Available

The amount of gasoline available in refinery storage on May 21, 1922, for each of the 10,448,632 automobiles registered on January 1, 1922, was 82 gallons, compared with an average of 87 gallons for each of the automobiles registered on January 1 of the years 1918 to 1921, inclusive.

Repairs Made Possible

Repairs to the radiator drain cock can be made without first draining off the water by plugging the end of the overflow pipe with a cork. The water will then not run out at the drain because there is no inlet for air. The radiator cap should be screwed on tight while the work is being done.

VEHICLE OUTPUT LARGE THIS YEAR

Two Million Figure Is Set By General Manager of U. S. Chamber

Motor vehicle production for the first eight months this year approximated 1,664,000 and for the full year should exceed 2,000,000, according to Alfred Reeves, general manager of the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce, in an address before the Motor and Accessory Manufacturers' Association at Buffalo.

About 10 per cent of this year's production will be trucks, but an increase in truck output is anticipated as general business improves. About 30 per cent of passenger car output will be in closed models and within a few years the closed car output is likely to run 50 per cent of the total. Probably 70 per cent of all cars turned out this year will sell for $1000 or less.

Present prosperity of the automobile business means employment for 2,250,000 people, Mr. Reeves said. In addition to the 200,000 men working in motor factories there are hundreds of thousands of professional chauffeurs and retail garage employees.

Accessory Factories
There are about 250,000 accessory factory workers, 150,000 tire dealers and salesmen and thousands more in allied retail trades.

There are many reasons for believing that should a lessened demand come it will be relatively slight. Not the least is the feeling that the agricultural districts, under the impetus of a bumper harvest, will enter the market more aggressively than in the past and become an active purchaser of both passenger cars and trucks.

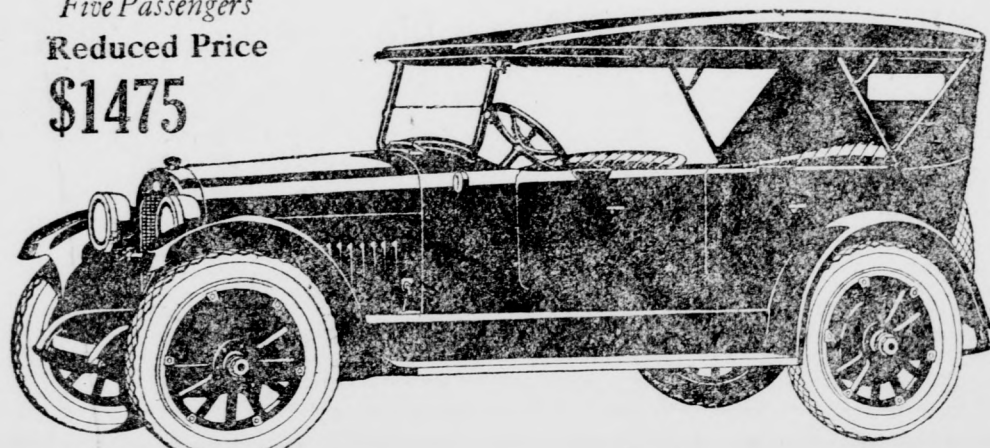

Improved business conditions, higher wages to labor and the anticipation of good crops have already had their reflections in the demand for motor vehicles. They lead to the conviction that the rest of the year will be normal, at least, with a strong probability that it will not fall very far behind the general average for the first eight months. In that period the total production was 1,671,418, as against 1,668,550 for the entire year of 1921.

For Violation

Motorists are warned by George S. Grant, manager of the touring bureau of the California State Automobile Association, to carry their operators' licenses either on their person or in their cars. In many counties in Northern California motorists arrested for violation of the traffic ordinance are being assessed an additional $5 for failure to produce their licenses. In forty or fifty recent arrest cases reported to the California State Automobile Association's legal department extra fines of $5 have been levied for this infraction of the state law.

Leaks Causing Oily Roads In Southland

Oil discoloration of roads has disturbed the beauty loving equanimity of many a city beautiful body and presented a stubborn problem to both road and automobile experts in many localities. The why of it, especially the deposit of oil on the right side of a hill going up, is explained by Don P. Smith, general manager for W. P. Herbert company, distributors of Cleveland and Chandler cars.

"When a car is confronted with the task of hill climbing the driver steps a little harder on the accelerator, thus pouring a heavier flow of gas into his engine, causing it to pick up speed.

"This results in a hotter motor, which results in the greases and oils becoming thinner. Unless every possible crack and crevice where the motor and chassis are put together is tightly sealed the thinned oils leak out, drop on the road, and where traffic is regular soon turn the highway black.

Many to Pay Tax

Owners of 470,987 automobiles in California will pay taxes this year on a total assessed property value of $135,601,180, M. D. Lack, secretary of the State Board of Equalization, announced recently. The figures show that Los Angeles county leading with 121,420 automobiles valued at $38,021,510. San Francisco county has 48,850 cars assessed at $15,589,000, and Alameda county has 49,000, assessed at $16,000,000.

"The right side of the hill going down, it will be noticed, is never so oil-laden as the opposite side. This is due to the fact that the motor is kept cooler down hill and the oils remain at their normal running consistency, which is usually thick enough to prevent them from leaking through any slight openings.

Manila Has Costly, Much Traveled Herd

MANILA — Nineteen Hereford bulls at the college of agriculture here are believed to be the most traveled and among the most costly bulls in the world. They are what are left out of 250 Herefords bought by the Philippine government from Texas pastures three years ago. Instead of putting the bulls into the hands of cattlemen, the government shipped them to Zamboanga, at the southern end of the archipelago, then brought them back and afterward sent them out to the college.

At various stopping points they were infected with cattle disease called rinderpest, from which most of them died. Nineteen are left from which it is said that feder bulls in the shipment have come. Native cattle are small; the original intention was to breed size and beef into them by crossing them with the Herefords.

WILLYS-KNIGHT IS DUE TONIGHT

Seven Passenger Car With Disc Wheels and Other Late Conveniences

Announcement is made by H. C. Kennedy, sales manager for the Geo. T. Smith Company, Glendale agents for the Overland and Willys-Knight cars, that the new seven-passenger Willys-Knight with disc wheels will be delivered to his firm tonight.

Co-incidental with this announcement, Mr. Kennedy reported that his company has just delivered one of the new model disc wheel sedan Willys-Knight to Jot C. Wood of this city. "That's number one for this month," he confided. "From now on watch the sale of the new Willys-Knights grow."

"Just as soon as the new seven-passenger model makes its advent in Glendale, local residents will be kept busy dodging them in the streets.

"A prospective purchaser, irrespective of whether he wants a car of six or eight cylinders, desires one with spirited flexibility and power, and with the smoothness of operation he admires in a motor car. The new Willys-Knight combines all these features.

"The long, low, graceful lines and its advanced design also tend to make it one of the most beautiful cars in America. In addition, the body and chassis of the new model are so constructed that they will eliminate even the faintest noises."

Mr. Kennedy announces that just as soon as the new seven-passenger disc wheel car puts in an appearance it will be placed on exhibition in the firm's show room, 228 South Brand boulevard.

OUTPUT OF 'HUP' CAR SETS RECORD

Has Already Surpassed 30,000 Mark; Early Estimate Made for Year

Hupmobile cars have already passed the 30,000 production figure set for 1922, and their production is continuing on a maximum output basis which gives no indication of an immediate let-up, according to a letter from the headquarters of the company in Detroit, which was received yesterday by James H. French, member of the firm of Bartlett & French, Glendale agents for the Hupmobile car.

Mr. French, who reports an appreciable sale of "Hups" in this locality, says that the foregoing statement from Detroit is indicative of the growing popularity of Hupmobile cars. Continuing, he said:

"In 1919 at the New York and Chicago National Automobile shows the Hupmobile held nineteenth position in space allotments, which are awarded on a basis of monetary sales volume. This year, as the letter I just received reveals, our car jumped to tenth position with approximately eighty manufacturers in the race."

"To quote the general manager of the Hup Motor Car Corporation, the most gratifying part of the whole situation is the fact that our company has attained foremost rank in a great industry without the slightest evidence of forced sales and productive methods. Consequently when we see the demand increasing month after month and year after year, we know that our manufacturing efforts have not been unrewarded."

Mr. French further stated that data received this week from Detroit show that in the total number of automobiles sold, the Hupmobile ranks ninth.

AUTO NECESSITY OF THRIFTY MAN

Lyman P. Clark Tells How Car Will Help Increase Earning Capacity

"A lot of folks have asked me how it is that in a period of subnormal industrial activity people have been buying automobiles at a rate that has far outstripped the manufacturing capacity of many factories," says Lyman P. Clark of the Glendale Motor Car company, 124 West Colorado, Maxwell dealers.

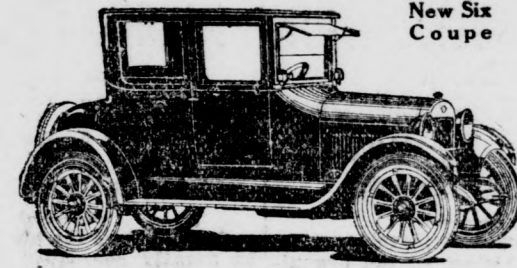

"The fact that this is so confirms a theory that I have long held. The thrifty man simply can't afford to be without a car. His general family expense for recreation and travel is much less when he drives a car."

"His earning capacity is much greater. Any man who goes to and fro in city or country, earning a living, can't do without his automobile and maintain his income."

"Many salesmen who work on a strictly commission basis have found their earnings doubled by the ownership of a car. They can make twice the calls and twice the sales in a day as compared with street car, interurban or railroad transportation between nearby points."

"So the more difficult it becomes for the professional man or

Americans Welcomed by Brazilians Now Rotate Your Tires for Long Service

RIO DE JANEIRO — Americans are the star boarders in Rio's best hotels. They spend more, are livelier, make less complaint and their tips are bigger.

So says the manager of the Palace hotel, one of the two good hotels here. The other is the Gloria hotel, which was opened to the public on the first of September. Both are looking out for centennial guests.

Both hotels have long waiting lists, notwithstanding that their prices have more than doubled. M. Ghisalberti, manager of the Gloria, says that they are raising their rates about 50 per cent. More than half of the guests now in his hotel are Americans, and he says he would rather deal with them than any other nationality.

"The dinner parties and dances given by the Americans keep the hotel animated. They like to dance and have a good time, and the Americans spend much more than any of the other guests."

Adolph Fasciati, who before coming to Rio was for twenty years in the Ritz-Carlton hotel's service, and is now managing the Palace, says:

"The American traveler here, as in Europe, is the best spender the most liberal. He will bargain for his room, sometimes for an hour or more, but then he will go to the dining-room and order extras amounting to twice as much as he saved. He also spends more than twice as much in the bar as any other class of traveler. He is always ready to criticize service, but he is the only one who will take the trouble to give you suggestions and tips for betterment. And he will take the trouble to show you just what he means, too."

It's the same story in the restaurants—the Rotisserie Americana, the Brahma, the Sul-America and the Rio Minho. The waiters and managers are ready with the glad hand for all Americans because they order more expensive dinners and the better makes of wine and make little or no complaint about the size of the checks.

They are spending their money freely, laughing and joking over the incidents of the day and having a good time. They seem to be enjoying it, and so is the management. They like Americans—it pays dividends.

Inspection Needed
If the car will not coast freely with gears or clutch disengaged it indicates binding in bearings of the front wheels or some part of the rear axle. Usually the cause is due to the brakes, which have not been set so that the bands are free from the brake drum.

salesman to maintain his income, the more necessary it is for him to expand the radius of his daily operation. The car alone will do it. So he is even more likely to buy a car when times are dull than when times are good."

at comparatively regular intervals and see how much better they all wear.

"What about the tire the careless driver stops his car with against the curb? Why not distribute that abuse among them all, if you must insist upon saving your brakes and time?"

"It isn't a question of how you rotate them, it is simply a matter of giving them an equal share of the wear and keeping them all in use. Further, it isn't impossible to practice tire rotation and it certainly is practical."

"Use all your tires in all positions and be convinced that the manufacturer wants you to know how to use a tire in order to get the utmost in mileage and service, after it is sold."

Truck Drivers Are Careless, Is Claim

Motorists in this section of the state are in constant danger of accidents from careless truck drivers who fail to use rear-sight mirrors and make turns without looking behind, according to hundreds of complaints made to officials of the Automobile Club of Southern California.

In some instances, it is pointed out, truck and delivery-wagon drivers even fail to provide their vehicles with tail-lights in good working order, evading the law in this respect on roads and streets where they think they will not be observed by traffic officers.

Officials of the Automobile club are calling the attention of traffic authorities to this practice in hopes that steps may be taken to protect travelers on the highways and force the commercial vehicles to provide themselves with the ordinary safety devices as outlined in the state laws.

Complaints filed with the club say that in many cases the trucks are provided with something that answers the legal description of a mirror for seeing if the road is clear behind, but that these so-called mirrors are often so dirty that no human being could see a reflection in them.

Often truck drivers fail to give any signal at all when turning suddenly, and some testimony has been gathered which indicates that the drivers of heavy vehicles are unconcerned as to the welfare of the motoring public because they know that the weight of the truck will protect them in case another motorist runs into it.

Pink-cheeked boys who are entrusted as drivers of delivery wagons are the worst offenders in failing to give arm signals, say the complaints registered with the Auto club.

OAKLAND PLANS NEW AUTO SHOW

Fifth Annual Event Will Be Held January 13 to 20,
Is Announcement

Oakland will have its fifth annual automobile show in the Oakland civic auditorium during the week of January 13 to 20, according to an announcement made yesterday by Robert Martland, manager of the display.

The dates were finally set at a meeting of the automobile show committee of the motor car dealers' division of the Alameda County Automobile Trade association, yesterday morning and plans finally completed for making the 1923 showing of automobiles one that will be long remembered in California automobile circles.

Bob Martland has already announced his intention of making the coming exhibit of cars, trucks and accessories one that will be the most complete from every standpoint. The decorative design and lighting scheme are now under advisement and announcements regarding this feature of the exhibit will be made in the near future.

Men on Committee
The men who are working heart and soul with Martland on the plans for the show are as follows: Howard B. Rector, chairman of the show committee, who is ably assisted by the following committeemen: Willard Webber, Charles L. Hebrank, Harold D. Knudson and Hal W. Beard.

This show will afford the motoring public here their first opportunity to see the latest 1923 models as every effort is being put forth by the men in charge of the various Oakland automobile companies to secure direct from the factories duplicates of the cars that will be shown at the same time in the big national New York automobile display.

Following the meeting of the show committee Martland at once undertook the multitudinous duties of the management and for the next two months the aggressive executive will be busy with the hundred and one details of the coming exhibit in order that everything may be in excellent shape for the opening night of the automobile exhibit.

The enthusiasm of the automobile men this year over the show seems to indicate that it will surpass previous efforts of the local dealers in every way and that it will be a display that will reflect credit on the city of Oakland.

Sport Editor's Babe Gets Rare Presents

MARTIN'S FERRY, Ohio.—When a daughter—Betty Ann—was born to Mrs. G. W. Ball, wife of a local sports editor, the high school athletic association sent the baby a pass to a football game. The school attendance officer sent the new papa a notice citing him for failure to send his daughter to school, and a friend, employed in the foreign exchange department of a local bank, gave the babe a Russian 100,000-ruble note, that, prior to the world war, would have been worth $51,500. Now the note is said to be worth about 4 cents.

Newspaperman Takes Delivery on First 1923 'Superior' Chevrolet In Glendale, Through Agency C. L. Smith, Dealer in this Territory

FIRST 1923 "SUPERIOR" CHEVROLET TO BE DELIVERED IN GLENDALE
Picture shows W. S. Ingram, on the left, of The Glendale Evening News, handing O. Nation, salesman for C. L. Smith, local Chevrolet dealer, check for the first new model delivered in this city. Seated in the car is Mrs. Ingram, ready to drive the car away from the Chevrolet headquarters at Colorado and Orange.

The first 1923 "Superior" Chevrolet, a touring car, to be delivered in Glendale, was received by W. S. Ingram of The Glendale Evening News, through the agency of C. L. Smith of the Chevrolet headquarters at Colorado and Orange, with a branch at 1321 South San Fernando road.

The sale of the first 1923 "Superior" Chevrolet to be delivered here was made by O. Nation of the local agency.

Mr. Ingram states that he selected the "Superior" Chevrolet because of economical transportation, beauty of lines, its pep, sturdiness, and the fact it's an easy car for a woman to drive—and Mrs. Ingram is doing much of the driving. The "first 1923 Chevrolet" to be delivered in Glendale, has already made several hundred miles over all sorts of roads without a bit of mechanical grief.

The C. L. Smith agency has delivered other 1923 cars in Glendale.

"And the public has unqualifiedly placed the stamp of approval on the new models," says C. L. Smith. "I suggest that orders be placed as soon as possible, for the demand for the new models is great."

Striking features of the 1923 "Superior" models are streamlined body, higher radiator, with larger hood and cowl, longer wheel base, heavier frame, longer springs, cord tire equipment on all closed models, gasoline tank in the rear with vacuum feed system, drum type headlights with legal lenses, storm curtains opening with the doors on the open models, which necessitates also the doors opening just opposite to what they did in former models; crowned and paneled fenders, with rib-rolled splash plates and a larger and stronger steering gear equipment.

The new "Superior" roadster has a one-piece body instead of the detachable turtle-back on the rear as in former models; it is bigger and heavier and looks more like the "F. B." roadster.

The new "Superior" five-passenger sedan is solid black with gold in strip trimmings, richly finished interiorly and improved in appearance and construction by the many innovations described above.

The utility coupe is very similar in design to the former one, but has in addition all the 1923 refinements.

An entirely new addition to the Chevrolet family is the four-passenger sedanette or coach, which it is reported, will replace the former four-passenger coupe. Richly finished inside and out, it has the famous Fisher body, cord tires, broad plate glass Termstedt regulated windows, and is equipped with trunk and trunk rack with nickel-plated guard rails. The two front seats are roomy and strong and tilt forward to permit easy access to the rear seat. It is lined with rich blue-gray velvet that is both durable and extremely decorative.

African Undertaker Bright Advertiser

FREETOWN, Africa.—"Jazz advertising" has penetrated even into the innermost regions of Africa.

Alimamy Bungle, the "sympathetic undertaker," is the best African exponent of "jazz advertising." He has placarded the countryside with the following message:

"Young man, time is short. Eternity is at hand. He is dead! Are you ready? Eat good food, drink good zrog, be praying for a happy death and a decent burial!"

Alimamy has secured wealth by being the "sympathetic undertaker," and he travels over the country in an expensive and luxurious rickshaw equipped with a fire engine bell to announce his arrival.

A machine has been invented by means of which it is possible to produce sea air in the heart of a great city. It is being used in the treatment of various diseases.

Girl Who Wed Age Must Take Chances

DETROIT, Mich.—Young girls who marry old men "must take their chances," Judge Clayton C. Johnson of Coldwater declared in circuit court here, after listening to attorneys for Joseph A. Curtis, president of the Curtis Candy company, and Mrs. Margaret Averil Curtis argue the latter's motion for $75 a week alimony.

"This court is not going to lend itself to any scheme to make a profit from marriage," said the judge.

Mrs. Curtis' attorneys, referring to Curtis as the "Candy King," declared his income $18,000 a year. His counsel termed him a bankrupt and asked that the amount be reduced materially. It was then that the court delivered his decision. The alimony was set at $15 a week.

Mrs. Curtis, in her cross bill, declared that Curtis spanked her one day as she started to leave her home with a woman friend. Her age was given as 22 and his as 54 years.

STRONG FRAME IN NEW NASH SEDAN

More Than Two Hundred
Kinds of Material Used in Auto's Structure

"The average owner of a Nash enclosed car will tell you that the construction is excellent. That it is strongly built, that there are no rattles, squeaks, etc., but very few can tell one just why this is. In fact, few owners realize to what extent the manufacturer goes to provide a closed body that is entirely safe and sound and one that will live for years."

It's E. B. Sutton, general manager of the Glendale Nash Sales, talking. Mr. Sutton just received the new Nash sedan, which is now on display in the firm's showrooms, 112 Madison street.

It was while discussing the comforts of the new model that he let go the above philosophy. Continuing, he said:

"The built-in strength of the Nash enclosed bodies does not lie entirely in steel panels or in other exterior parts of the car. Rather, it is deep down under the body frame, at points which the owner seldom, if ever, sees during the life of the car."

"When one is informed that in the building of Nash enclosed bodies it requires over two hundred separate and distinct kinds of material, one usually expresses amazement. Of these, lumber and steel are the most important elements. The lumber most used is tough white southern ash, while the steel is the hardest variety obtainable."

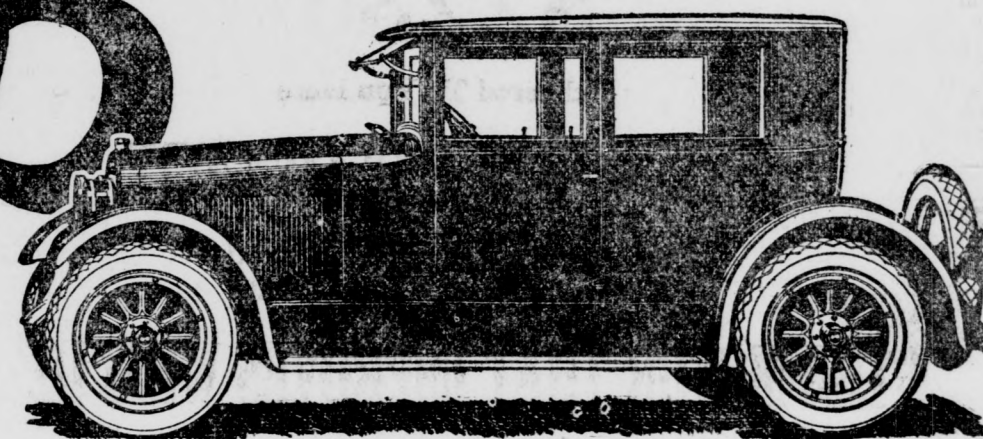

Mr. Sutton reports that a large number of motorists have dropped in his plant this week to inspect the new sedan model on exhibition.

DOUBLE INTERESTS SEEK PLANT SITE

C. O. Harrison Now Selling
Stock in New Steam
Car Corporation

The Double Steam Car, Inc., is casting about Southern California with a view of selecting one of the cities adjoining Los Angeles as a factory site, according to an announcement issued yesterday by C. O. Harrison, Glendale agent for the Double steamer.

Mr. Harrison, who has established offices at 113 East Broadway, is at present offering securities for sale in the parent company. He says that everybody getting in on this issue will be protected in every way by the Double company, and they will also be eligible to claim stock in any other motor device that the company may market.

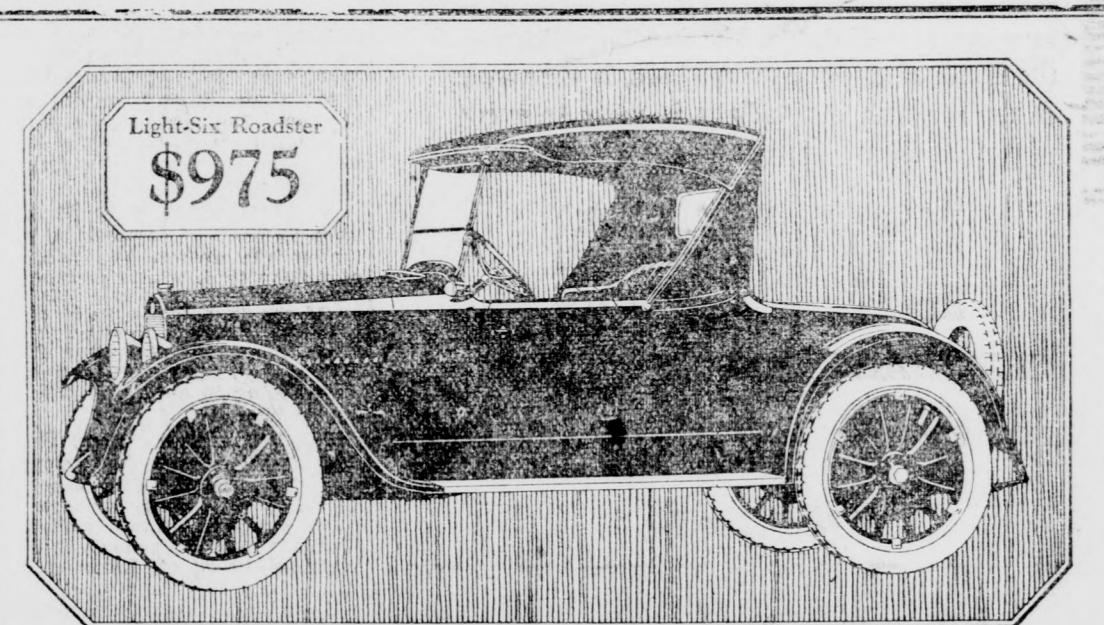

Briefly, the production of the Double car was greatly curtailed in 1916 by the ruling of the government that automobile manufacturers cut their production to 40 per cent. As the company was just preparing to turn out cars in volume at the time, its production was practically lowered to zero.

Builds Eleven Machines
"Since the company was formed it has constructed eleven machines," Harrison said. "Of these, ten machines are now in operation, and the other is used by Mr. Doble, who in the past six years, has driven it more than 153,000 miles. It was this feat of the car that attracted the attention of the corporation commissioner of California, who later granted the company a corporation license."

"In 1916 the Doble car attracted widespread attention in the east when more than 11,000 orders were booked by the company for future delivery. This order was accompanied by a cash payment of $400,000."

At the present Mr. Harrison says that the Doble company is engaged in building two cars. One, priced at $8,000, is being assembled in Oakland, while the other, priced at $2,000 will be constructed in the vicinity of Los Angeles just as soon as the company picks a factory site.

Harrison stated that he understands that no one city in this section is favored for the factory, and he believes that Glendale has just as good a chance to pick the plant as any other city around here.

Studebaker

It is not necessary to buy a high-priced roadster to get maximum comfort. Comfort is a matter of correct design. Comfort is built into the Studebaker Light-Six.

The seat is placed at just the right angle for relaxation and is provided with big, fat cushions, upholstered in genuine leather. The semi-elliptic springs are long, strong and resilient.

There is ample luggage space under the rear deck—plenty of room for everything you may want to carry.

Vibration, which is so destructive to motor cars, is practically eliminated by the perfect balance of the motor. This is largely due to the fact that the crank-shaft and connecting rods are machined on all surfaces, an exclusive Studebaker practice for cars at anywhere near the Light-Six price.

Economy of operation is increased by valves inclined at a 20-degree angle and by the internal hot spot.

This handsome roadster is a quality car throughout. It is sold at $975 only because of complete manufacture, in large volume, in one of the most modern and complete motor car plants in the world.

Middlemen's profits are thus eliminated, and the savings are passed on to you.

The Light-Six Roadster well upholds Studebaker's 70-year reputation for dependability and dollar-for-dollar value.

Attractive cowl lights. Thief-proof transmission lock. Cowl ventilator. Storm curtains opening with the doors. Large plate-glass window in rear curtain. Inside and outside door handles. Upholstered in genuine leather. Ample space under the rear deck for luggage.

AUTO REPAIR MEN START CAMPAIGN

'National Overhauling Week'
Will Open In Glendale on Monday Morning

California has had her orange day, her raisin day, her melon day and numerous other special days or holidays which are regularly set aside by the state or communities for observance of the events which they commemorate. Now comes a branch of the automobile industry—the repair end of the business, with the announcement that they, too, are to have a special week for emphasizing the importance of their business.

Not to be outdone by other industries state-wide in their scope and which have become nationally prominent through the publicity given them during special celebrations, the Automobile Repair Men have set aside next week to be known as "National Overhauling Week."

A special drive is to be made with purpose of impressing upon automobile owners the necessity of getting their winter repairs and overhauling done now. This is to avoid the rush that usually comes with the first real signs of winter, when the ordinary owner drives in a garage and wants a general overhauling in approximately two hours' time.

The repair men believe that if people will begin now to prepare for winter driving that they will not only get better service but better work. The repair shops of Glendale are high-class and are equipped to do all kinds of general repair and rebuilding work.

Look over today's announcement in the advertising columns of the News and drive your car into some one garage represented on the page and have your overhauling done now.

FORD SPECIALIST NOW IN GLENDALE

Clair R. D'Arge Joins Staff of Jesse E. Smith, Local
Ford Distributors

Ford owners of Glendale and its environs, especially prospective ones, need no longer plead mechanical ignorance, for there is now among us, and at your disposal, a former instructor of the Ford service school of Detroit.

His name is Clair R. D'Arge, and he hails from Detroit and New York, where his records reveal he has served in practically every appointment of importance offered by the Ford interests. In Glendale he is associated with Jesse E. Smith, Ford dealer, in the capacity of sales manager.

When interviewed in his office yesterday Mr. D'Arge said that there wasn't anything that he could remark about the Ford car and still be original, so at the urging of his associates in the Smith offices, he modestly agreed to give Glendaleans a brief outline of his career with the Ford company.

"My chief reason for desiring to introduce myself, Mr. D'Arge confided, "is simply because I intend to take up a residence in this thriving little city. I've only been here a few weeks, that's true, but what I've seen of Glendale and the opportunities offered here make me want to stay."

Long Association
Mr. D'Arge's association with the Ford company dates back to 1912. After graduating from the company's service school, he started working his way through the various departments. The first big position he held was instructor of the Ford company's large foreign classes, which are enlisted from all sections of the world. Here his ability as a linguist won him the praise of his department heads. Language most used by him in dealing with the trade are French, German, Russian, Polish and Czech-Slovak.

His next advancement after he had fitted himself at the Detroit College of Law, was in the Ford legal department. Then came shifts to the organization, construction and efficiency departments. As Mr. D'Arge interposed, his experience in the automobile game is too varied to describe.

Just a few months ago, while serving as road man out of New York for the Ford company, Mr. D'Arge was offered the appointment of general sales agent in Europe for the Ford interests.

This and other lucrative positions were rejected by him on account of poor health—the factor that served to force him to California and Glendale.

When Mr. D'Arge isn't busy boosting for Henry, industrially, he says he is going to boost for Glendale. He enjoys civic and social club life, and just as soon as he is suitably established in the city he plans to take out applications in the various organizations. Meanwhile, he invites Ford owners to carry their problems to him at the Smith agency.

Cut Coast Highway on Face of Cliff

By far the most hazardous and difficult piece of construction work on the California state highways is that on the Coast boulevard at Mugu Point which was done by the state highway commission with its own forces. Three-quarters of a mile of road thirty feet wide has been blasted out of the face of precipitous rock cliffs which at this point rise out of deep water. Although the roadway is fifty feet above the mean water level spray from heavy seas which beat against the rocks at times dashes ten feet above it. Approximately 100,000 cubic yards of rock and earth have been moved in building this short stretch of road.

Two reasons are given by the state highway commission for starting this work with its own forces. In the first place it was impossible to make a survey to get profiles and cross sections on which to estimate quantities of materials to be moved and in the second place it was desired to gain time by starting the work and getting it under way while surveys were being completed on adjoining sections. Division Engineer W. W. Patch states that an attempt was made by the field engineer to make a survey at Mugu Point in 1918, but without success. Men were lowered by ropes from poles thrust out over the top of the cliffs, but it was impossible to plant a transit at any point from which the man at the end of the rope could be seen. Sextants could not be used on both sides of Mugu Point in the interim, however, and plans and specifications are ready for three miles of highway to be built along the cliffs east of the point, which will involve about 300,000 cubic yards of rock and earth excavation, and plans for another three-mile continuation of this section involving about 200,000 cubic yards excavation. This six-mile stretch of road straddles Sycamore Creek, which flows through a canyon, giving the only means of access to the coast at that place. To bring materials and supplies in through this canyon a road must be built from a ranch road leading to Debo, ten miles distant. This road through Sycamore Canyon will cross the stream thirty-five times. Water flows in this canyon the year around. These two sections of road, together with about two miles of grading along the shore west of Mugu Point, involving lighter work, will soon be offered for bids in one large contract.

M. O. ELDRIDGE GETS NEW POST

Expert on Highways Is Made Executive Chairman of the A. A. A.

Maurice O. Eldridge, who has been director of roads of the A. A. A. Good Roads board for the past three years and in direct charge of all legislative activities of the A. A. A., has been named as executive chairman of the association and has assumed active charge of the association's work throughout the United States. Mr. Eldridge was selected at a meeting of a special committee held at Cleveland, Ohio, recently.

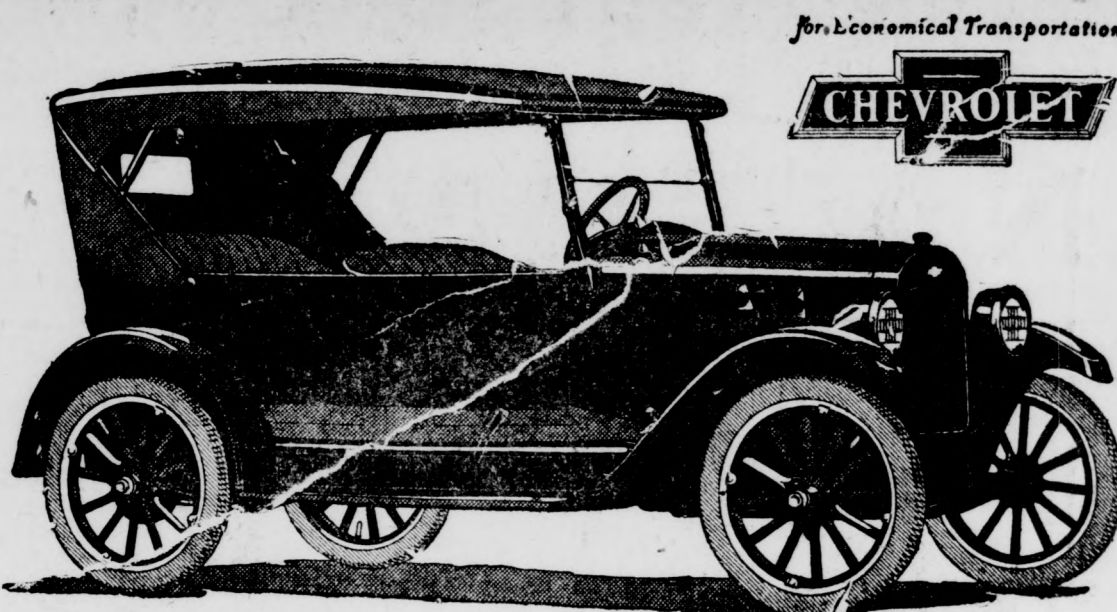

The new executive chairman brings to his task a record of twenty-five years of successful work in the United States Bureau of Public Roads.

While assistant director of that bureau, Mr. Eldridge performed an enormous amount of original research and development work on road and transportation problems and for five or six years previous to associating himself with the A. A. A. he co-operated extensively with the late A. G. Batchelder in good roads programs.

A graduate of the scientific school of George Washington university and a civil and highway engineer of high standing, Mr. Eldridge, has made road problems his life work and has probably delivered more lectures on this subject than any other man in America.

DOBLE STEAM CAR

Will Be Demonstrated IN GLENDALE

The Doble Steam Car will be on demonstration
Thursday, November 9th, between the hours of 9 a. m. and 12 noon.

The Doble Steam Car is the most sensational motor car in the whole history of the motor car industry.

In building the Doble Car, Abner Doble has eliminated all the "bugs" of the steam cars of former years. He has built a car without a clutch, without transmission gears, without a drive shaft and universal joints. The Doble Car has no pilot light, no scale to remove, no frequent stops for water, no racing motor, no carbon to remove, no valves to grind, no oil pump to fail. The Doble Car has no self-starter—a simple turn of the switch and advance the throttle and this marvelous car is G-O-N-E.

In its action the Doble Car is as smooth as a bird, as powerful as a locomotive and so flexible that it leaps from one to sixty miles an hour in a few seconds.

In a word the Doble Car is so simple, so flexible, so silent, so durable, so far superior to any other automobile that a new set of standards is necessary to gauge its worthiness.

Be Absolutely Sure That You See the Doble Steam
Car In Action THURSDAY, November 9th, at the Northeastern Corner of Brand and Broadway.

"You better duck, mister," advised Red Sanders; "they'll hang you sure."

Divine went white. To face trial before two such men as Simms and Ward meant death, of that he was positive. To flee into the forest meant death, at least as certain, and much more horrible. The man went to his knees, lifting supplicating hands to the mate.

"For God's sake, Mr. Ward," he cried, "be merciful. I was led into this by Theriere. He lied to me just as he did to the men. You can't kill me—it would be murder—they'd hang you for it."

"We'll hang for this miss you got us into anyway, if we're ever caught," growled the mate. "If you hadn't carried the girl off to be murdered we might have had enough ransom money to have got clear some way, but now you gone and cooked the whole goose for the lot of us."

"You can collect ransom on me," cried Divine, clutching at a straw. "I'll pay a hundred thousand myself the day you set me down in a civilized port, safe and free."

"You ain't got a cent, you four-flusher," he cried. "Clinker put us next to that long before we sailed from Frisco."

"Clinker lies," cried Divine. "He doesn't know anything about it—I'm rich."

"Wot's de use ob chawin' de rag 'bout all dis," cried Blanco, seeing where he might square himself with Ward and Simms easily. "Does yo' take back all us sailormen, Mr. Ward, an' promise not to punish none o' us if we swear to stick by yo' all in de future?"

"Y es," replied the mate. Blanco took a step toward Divine.

"Den yo come along, too, as a prisoner, white man," and the tiny black grasped Divine by the scruff of the neck and forced him before him down the steep trail toward the cove, and so the mutineers returned to the command of Skipper Simms, and L. Cortwright Divine went with them as a prisoner, charged with a crime the punishment for which has been death since men sailed the seas.

MISSING GIRL FOUND ON A FARM

CHICAGO.—"Dick" Davis, farm hand, turned out to be a girl instead of a boy when "he" was located at a farm near Roselle, Ill. The discovery cleared up the mystery of the strange disappearance of Margaret Davis, 14-year-old school girl, of this city. For a week the authorities combed the state at the frantic behest of the girl's parents, who were convinced that she had been either kidnaped or murdered. When "Dick" was found on the farm it was soon discovered that the farm hand was Margaret, in boy's clothing.

APPARATUS AND DEVICES

By RALPH BROWN, RADIO ENGINEER

DIRECT READING WAVEMETER.

Clubs and laboratories are constantly experimenting and therefore a wavemeter is one of the essential pieces of apparatus. The illustration shows a very desirable direct reading meter that will answer all purposes. Its equipment is such that it is adapted for use with receiving and transmitting apparatus employing either damped or undamped waves. It is self-contained and direct reading, features which make the instrument particularly valuable for commercial work.

A hot wire galvanometer is used for indicating resonance of transmitted signals, while for received signals a crystal detector and binding posts for telephone are provided. For producing damped oscillations of a known wave length it is equipped with a high frequency buzzer.

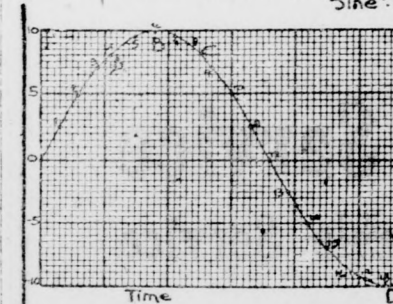

RADIO EXPLAINED

By LIEUT. JOHN R. IRWIN
INSTRUCTOR U. S. AIR SERVICE

THE A. C. TRANSFORMER.

Continuing the subject of the two preceding articles. At radio frequencies the effectiveness of iron in increasing the magnetic flux is not so great as at low frequencies.

In the case of how frequencies and transformers, using iron cores, are discussed very thoroughly in time is required for the magnetization to travel inward from the surface to the axis of the iron core. Hence, if the current is rapidly reversed in direction the magnetic wave started by one-half cycle recalls it and starts a wave of opposite sign. As a consequence the magnetism is confined to the outer layers of the iron core. For this reason iron is not as effective in increasing the number of flux lines in high frequency circuits as it is with steady currents or low frequency currents.

with radio frequencies is to obtain an alternating current from a pulsating current. For example, in the use of vacuum tubes for amplifying received signals, pulsations are produced in plate current above and below the normal steady value. By passing the plate current through the primary of a transformer an amplified alternating emf is obtained in the secondary and this emf is applied to the grid circuit of a second vacuum tube and so on. The steady current has no inducing effect in the transformer, but the alternating emf, in the secondary circuit.

The department of commerce announces that the census reports show a considerable decrease in the activities of the establishments engaged in the manufacture of chocolate and cocoa products, exclusive of confectionary, during the year 1921, as compared with 1919, although there is a slight increase in the number of establishments. In 1921 there were fifty establishments reported, with a total value of products of $77,930,711 as compared with forty-eight establishments with a total value of products of $139,258,296 in 1919. The decrease in the total value of products was 44 per cent.

In October, the month of maximum employment, 7,767 wage earners were reported, and in July, the month of minimum employment, 5,116.

Uncle Wiggily Bedtime Stories

— BY HOWARD R. GARIS —

UNCLE WIGGILY AND THE THORN BUSH.

"Wait a minute, Uncle Wiggily! Wait a minute!" called Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy as the bunny rabbit gentleman hopped down the steps of his hollow stump burrow on one morning.

"Eh? What's that? Some one at the telephone?" asked Uncle Wiggily, turning his ear toward his muskrat lady housekeeper and with the other listening for the telephone bell.

But no bell was ringing, and Nurse Jane said: "It isn't the telephone, Uncle Wiggily. I just wanted you to wait a moment before you go adventuring. I want to ask you to bring me back a pound of sugar."

"I'll do that!" promised the bunny rabbit and then with a twinkle of his pink nose, for he was feeling very jolly that morning, away he hopped over the fields and through the woods.

Uncle Wiggily had not gone very far before he heard some childish voices calling: "Pull him this way!" "No, pull him out the other way!"

"Don't pull him! Push him is what we ought to do!" "Don't push and don't pull! You're tearing me to pieces! Stop!"

This last cry was louder than any of the others.

"Goodness me, snakes alive and some apple butter ice cream!" exclaimed Uncle Wiggily. "Those are some of the animal boys and girls, I'm sure. But whatever has happened?"

Uncle Wiggily hopped nearer to some bushes, from behind which the excited cries seemed to come, and there the bunny saw a strange sight.

Johnnie and Billie Bushytail, the squirrels, and Jackie and Peetie Bow Wow, the puppy dog boys, were pulling at Floppy Twisttail, the little pig. Floppy was half hidden beneath a bush, and he was making as much noise as two little pigs caught under a gate.

"Pull him out!" chattered Johnnie the squirrel.

"Let me alone!" squealed the piggy chap. "You're filling me full of stickers. Ouchie-ouchie!"

"Here! Here! What's the matter?" cried Uncle Wiggily, as he hopped toward the bush.

"Floppy crawled under the thorn bush to get the ball that rolled there when we were having a catch," explained Jackie.

"And now he can't get out," added Peetie.

"We're trying to pull him out," said Johnnie.

"And I think maybe we'd better push him instead of pulling," said Billie, the other squirrel boy.

"Don't do anything!" squealed Floppy. "This is a thorn bush and the thorns are sticking in me from all sides. If you pull or push me they'll stick me out worse. Help me out, Uncle Wiggily!" begged the piggy boy. Uncle Wiggily put on his glasses and looked at the thorn bush. It was a bush with long, sharp sticky thorns, pointing in two ways. So that when some one was under the bush they could neither be pulled or pushed out, backward or forward, without being caught on the thorns.

"There is only one way to get Floppy out," said Uncle Wiggily. "We must lift him straight up out of the middle of the bush. Straight up will do the trick."

They got a long pole, held it over the middle of the thorn bush and Floppy caught hold of it in his front paws. Then, all holding together, they lifted the piggy boy out of the thorn bush without scratching him.

"Run along now," advised Uncle Wiggily, "and don't crawl under any more thorn bushes."

The animal boys thanked the bunny and went off to play ball again. Uncle Wiggily hopped to the store and got the pound of sugar in a bag.

As Uncle Wiggily was hopping home, near the thorn bush, all of a sudden, out at him jumped the Woozie Wolf.

"This time I'll have your ears!" howled the Wolf. Uncle Wiggily threw something under the thorn bush. The Wolf saw him do this.

"What did you throw under the bush?" asked the Wolf.

"Oh, just a pound of sugar," answered Uncle Wiggily, careless like. "It was only a pound of sweet sugar."

"Only a pound of sugar," howled the Wolf. "The idea. Don't you know I just love sugar with nibble ears? Now I've got to crawl under the bush and get the sugar. After that I'll nibble your ears."

Not knowing the bush had thorns on it, the Wolf crawled under. This he could easily do from that side, as all the thorns pointed in. He picked up the bag of sugar, but when he tried to crawl out again to nibble the bunny's ears, the thorns, now pointing out caught in the shaggy fur of the Wolf and held him fast.

"Let me alone!" squealed the piggy chap.

"Oh, help me out. Help me out!" howled the Wolf.

"Help you out to nibble my ears? Not much!" laughed Uncle Wiggily. "You are welcome to the sugar—I can get more, but I can't get any new ears. Good-bye!"

And away hopped the bunny, but the Wolf remained caught fast in the thornbush, until his wife came in the night and dug a hole under the bush so he could crawl out.

Once again the rabbit gentleman fooled the Wolf. And if the straw hat doesn't come down out of the attic to hide in the pocket of the fur overcoat to get warm, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily's coaster.

Side Talks by Ruth Cameron

BLESSED BE SYMPATHY

"Next to love, sympathy is the divinest passion of the human heart," Burke.

This isn't such a bad old world, after all, is it?

Sometimes in moments of depression it seems as if everyone in the world were selfish, and as if selfish motives were behind almost every act and thought, and as if love were wholly selfish, and people only cared for others because they administered in some way or another to their own happiness and comfort.

And then again one is surprised and uplifted by catching a glimpse of the breadth and depth and selflessness of human sympathy.

Such an experience came to me the other day.

She Really Cared

The postman was late. Twice the little maid who works in my kitchen came to me to ask if the postman had come yet. Thinking she expected some important letter I inquired if anything were wrong with any of her relatives.

"Oh, no," she said, "it's the morning paper I do be waiting for. It's the president's wife. I'm wondering is she better or worse this mornin'." (It was just at the time when Mrs. Harding's life hung in the balance).

The postman came and we tore the paper open together. "She's better Mary," I said.

"Thank God," breathed Mary.

"I wish you might have heard her exclamation. It was so genuine, so sincere, such unmistakable thanksgiving for another's happiness."

And Mary never saw the president or his wife, and in all probability never will!

But you can't account for Mary. I suppose you have heard that very fashionable phrase "maximization of the ego." It refers to the human instinct to make oneself stand out in some way. It is supposed to explain why men strive to excel in business, why women want to dress strikingly, why boys fight. It is even used to explain unselfishness and lives of self-sacrifice. "Just another form of maximization of the ego," I have come to hate that phrase because it seems to discount all virtue.

But I can't see how it can be made to apply to Mary and her unaffected joy over the recovery of the president's wife.

And I Thank God for It

No, I think that was a just spontaneous welling of the softest human sympathy and kindness, that says what the cynic will, does dwell in the hearts of common folks, and that helps as much to make life beautiful as flowers and trees and sunsets and October mornings.

RELIEF WORKER ADOPTS ORPHAN

While with the American Relief Administration in Ukraine, Mr. Babcock found three little children—a girl and two brothers—in a starving condition. Two of the children, the boys, he was able to find parents for, but the girl he adopted himself, and will bring her to his home at Morristown, N. J. They were photographed in Eaton Square, London.

BEAUTY CHATS

OF all letters in my mail bag the hardest to answer are those from self-conscious young girls. You can tell a woman that the soap she is using will ruin her complexion and advise a better quality, but you cannot tell a young girl to stop being self-conscious and advise her exactly what to do the moment she feels awkward. There are 10,000 reasons why girls are self-conscious. Most of the reasons revert back to trivial hurts and snubs in their childhood. You must get deep down into a girl's mind before you will find the special reason for her backwardness.

A distant adviser in my position, however friendly, can only make small suggestions, hoping some one of them will fit the case.

Now the most ordinary form of self-consciousness expresses itself by an inability to use the hands. The young girl "doesn't know what to do with them" so she fidgets them, moves them with aimless and meaningless gestures and makes them unduly prominent by trying to hide them.

Here are my suggestions which I have found valuable for this affliction. Make the hands as pretty as possible. If you haven't much money make your hands your own extravagance (we should all have, at least, one extravagance—it makes life so much pleasanter). Have your hands manicured by some very good person, purchase a good lotion to keep the skin soft and white and a pomade to keep the nails pink and shiny. Be extravagant of the time you spend on your hands. Manicure them carefully yourself, but have them done when your skin fails to keep them pretty.

Buy pretty gloves for them. Any hand looks well in a well made glove. No hand looks nice in a cheap one. You need not have fancy gloves, in fact you should only have plain ones, but the fingers should be sufficiently long to make the glove cling properly.

Kathleen—Consult the doctor about reducing as you are rather young to assume so great a responsibility. You are 65 pounds overweight.

Pearl—The roughness over the backs of the upper arms, which is sometimes called "rouse-flesh," can be overcome by using the bath brush or taking Turkish baths.

M. R. A.—The fact that one bust is much the larger of the two should not cause any apprehension. Many people are larger on one side than the other, only in different ways. There few people with feet or hands of the same size, and this unevenness has no significance whatever.

Gertrude—For very oily hair add a few drops of ammonia to the shampoo. A toilet water or Braised Fowl—Dress, clean a large fowl; stuff and truss it. Fry out one and one-half inch cube of fat salt pork, and remove the scraps. Sauté fowl in pork fat, or until surface is well browned, turning frequently. Remove to roasting pan, pour over fat remaining in pan, cook 3 minutes, with one slice onion, four slices carrots, two sprigs parsley, one-half bay-leaf. Add two cups boiling water, cover, and bake in a slow oven until tender, basting every fifteen minutes. Serve with a gravy made by straining the stock remaining in pan, and thickening with two tablespoons flour diluted with cold water to form a thin smooth paste.

Chestnut Stuffing—Shell one quart of chestnuts and cook in boiling salted water until soft. Drain and force through a potato ricer. Add four tablespoons melted butter, one and one-half teaspoons salt, one-fourth teaspoon pepper and sufficient milk or cream to make of right consistency.

Tomato Souffle—Melt two tablespoons butter, add two tablespoons flour, and stir until well blended; then pour on gradually, while stirring constantly, one-half cup sweet milk and one cup of stewed and strained tomatoes. Bring to the boiling point and let simmer two minutes; then add two-thirds cup grated Parmesan (Italian) cheese, one-half teaspoon salt, and a few grains of pepper. Add one tablespoon melted butter to one and one-half cups hot cooked macaroni (which has been broken in one-half inch pieces before cooking). Add to tomato mixture; then add the yolks of three eggs, beaten until thick and light, and cut and fold in the whites of three eggs beaten until stiff. Turn into a buttered baking dish and bake in slow oven until firm in center. Serve immediately.

Lettuce, String Bean and Onion Salad—Open pint can of stringless beans, drain and rinse with cold water. Marinate with French dressing and let stand in cool place for an hour. When ready to serve, drain, pile lightly in center of crisp lettuce nests, placed on individual salad plates, and cover with cooked salad dressing or "economical Mayonnaise" dressing; sprinkle tops with finely-chopped Spanish onion.

Cold Chocolate Pudding—Put one and one-half cups cold milk in top of double boiler, add one cup soft, stale bread crumbs, one and one-half squares of chocolate and one cup of sugar, and let cook until a smooth, paste is formed. Beat the yolks of three eggs until light, add one-half cup cold milk, two tablespoons butter, melted, and one-fourth teaspoon salt and stir into hot mixture. Cook until mixture thickens, then add one-half teaspoon vanilla. Turn into a buttered pudding dish and bake in a moderate oven for twenty minutes. Cool slightly, cover with a meringue made by beating the whites of three eggs until stiff, adding three tablespoons granulated sugar and a few drops of vanilla extract. Bake in a slow oven eight minutes, which will cook the egg white and brown the meringue delicately.

THE MANUFACTURE OF DIPHTHERIA-ANTI-TOXIN

Perhaps you have a child whose life has been saved by a horse.

Have you a child who has diphtheria and has had the diphtheria antitoxin? Then you probably owe its life to the horse. You had not thought of that perhaps. You simply had thought of the life-saving serum as "antitoxin," and in your terrible anxiety you did not care what it was so long as it saved the child's life.

As I told you in a previous paper, diphtheria antitoxin is not the vile, filthy material that those who are against all medical science would have you believe. Nor is it against nature to give it. The treatment of certain diseases by certain antitoxins and vaccines more nearly approaches nature than any other method of treatment we possess.

If you have an infectious disease and you recover from it, you recover because your system has manufactured certain defensive substances. When you are given these same defensive properties already manufactured by some other animal. This is a passive immunity.

When you are given vaccines, your system is stimulated to manufacture the defense itself. This is an active immunity.

In many infectious diseases we can depend upon our own system to manufacture a defense. In such terrible diseases as diphtheria, smallpox, cerebro-spinal meningitis, hydrophobia and tetanus (lockjaw), it is criminal to take the chance of our systems manufacturing the defense because so often it does not.

It is interesting, the manner of diphtheria antitoxin manufacture. I shall tell you all about it. To produce the diphtheria toxin with which the antitoxin horses are treated, pure culture of diphtheria germs are grown in beef broth. After a period of seven

They Say That

The Kansas City Star remarks that reports from various sources of a scarcity of labor in the last few weeks have appeared puzzling to many. The scarcity appears particularly noticeable in common labor. At this time a year ago official reports placed the number of idle men in the country from three and one-half to five million. The president called a national conference on the subject and this was followed by efforts in most of the cities to relieve unemployment and the suffering consequent to it in the winter months. And now there is the talk of a labor shortage. After saying that there is no reason to believe that the organized efforts of a year ago and more recently were the material factor in changing the labor situation, The Star reviews conditions and comments as follows:

There has been a steady demand for labor on the farms throughout the summer and this demand is still being maintained, according to the government employment service. With the single exception of cotton, the crops this year have been unusually good. For months, too, construction activity, in the form of residences and business buildings, road work and other public improvements, has been especially marked. There also has been a gradual improvement in the business condition of the country that not even the coal and railroad strikes halted materially.

But in all probability the biggest single factor in the present employment situation in America is to be traced to immigration conditions. The flow of labor to this country, particularly of the unskilled type, has been practically stopped for something like a year and a half. The 3 per cent alien restriction law apparently has been serving its purpose well.

Immigration bureau statistics show that the total of newcomers to this country last year was only 209,121, compared with 411,449 two years ago, 731,869 in the last pre-war year, 1913, and with an average of about one million for several years prior to 1913. Of the number coming last year about 30,000 were from Canada and Mexico, and a number nearly equal to the remainder which came from Europe and Asia, left America to return to original homes. Foreign immigration last year, therefore, amounted to practically nothing.

In the first six months of this year only certain southern and central European countries met the limited quotas allowed in immigration, while northern and western countries of Europe sent only about one-half of the immigrants permitted under the law. The law has served a highly valuable purpose in keeping out large numbers of the least desirable migrants.

NUMBER (5) IS THE ONE --- MARKED (THE STATE HOUSING ACT) REFERENDUM

This Law, if not defeated, will prevent you --- Mr., Miss or Mrs. Voter --- from being privileged to use your favorite roofing material (shingles) on any buildings you may construct in the future. LOCALS FAIL TO GET OVER LINE

Glendale and Citrus Union Elevens Play Tie Game Friday Afternoon

The Glendale high school "Dynamiters," playing their usual puncheon game, were held to a 0 to 0 score for the second time of the present Central league season, the sturdy eleven from Citrus Union High school being the latest "tyers." Each tie score has resulted when Glendale was playing an apparently weaker sister, the Red and Black squad advancing the oval to within speaking distance of the goal line, only to fail to have the "stuff" to put it over for a touchdown.

In the three league games which have been played to date Glendale has failed to score a single point, indicating that there must be something wrong with the locals' play somewhere. The boys are now fighting mad, however, and are determined to break into the "win" column at the next game. To date the monicker, "Dynamiters," has proven a decidedly misnomer.

Now to get back to the game. Glendale started out in its usual manner to rush the ball down the field soon after the beginning of play. The backs seemed to be able to make yards through the heavy "Lemon" line at random, in addition to several short forward passes. But when the five-yard line was reached the boys continued in their usual form, losing rather than gaining ground. The ball was in Citrus' territory throughout the entire first quarter, Horatio Butts attempting four drop-kicks during the period. Each one was close, but the Goddess of Luck wasn't with Glendale and the ball missed the cross-bar by a few feet every time.

Only One Point
The fact that only one punt was made by Glendale during the opening quarter is undoubtedly the reason why the boys failed to develop a sufficient "punch" to go over the line during the remainder of the game. The strenuous work from scrimmage, especially on the line, weakened them considerably.

The last three quarters were played on an even basis, the squads making gains with almost

NEW YORK, Nov. 4.—A West-end rodeo, in the macadam and concrete setting of the polite East, will begin today in Madison Square Garden, thousands of transcontinental miles from Cheyenne, Wyo., the place of its birth. Atmosphere, ponies, steers, riders, trappings, and what not, have been transplanted to the so-called "big town" by Tex Austin, impresario, and for ten days hereafter the famous sport arena will listen to "Ride 'em, cowboy!" and argot of the sort. The promoter is dreaming dreams of an annual pilgrimage here for what he is pledged to term "The World's Series of Western Sports" and is casting $25,000 worth of financial bread upon the waters in the hope that it will return after not too many days.

The generous award of cash prizes has intrigued the interest of the best riders and steer wrestlers, and they have promised to appear according to schedule. Such men as Howard Tegland, Yakima Canutt, Jim Massey, Fred Beeson, Ben Johnson, Billy Kingham, Blue Gentry, Bobby Calen, Hugh Strickland, Mike Hastings, Frank McCarroll and other headliners at the various "Frontier Days" throughout the West and Southwest are promised entries. They should insure the success of the affair from a competitive standpoint, since Tegland and Canutt are the recognized leaders of the broncho-riding division; Kingham, Johnson and Beeson are the champion ropers, and Massey is said to be the best steer wrestler on the plains.

So much for the competitive end of it. Financially the affair is an experiment—no more, no less.

The events in general are nine in number—namely, saddle bronco riding, steer wrestling, calf roping, fancy roping, trick and fancy riding, cowgirls' bronco riding, steer riding, wild cow milking and wild horse race. The largest cash return, $800, will go to the winner of the bronco-riding championship.

Ladies of the cast will be few in number, but quite superior in ability. They are Mabel Strickland, of Fort Worth; Fox Hastings, of Pendleton, Ore.; Bonnie McCarroll, of Boise, Idaho, and Lorena Tricky, of Cheyenne.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 4.—Ignatius Grenera, 13, today confessed to the police that he was the mysterious fire bug who had kept householders of various districts in a state of terror during the last four months by setting fires which caused a damage of $25,000.

Twenty-seven fires in all, the youth today admitted setting "for fun."

Grenera was arrested in a school yard half an hour after a fire had broken out in an adjacent residence.

Cuddeback, the fullback of the Stanford university football team, at the moment, is occupying the greatest share of the Pacific Coast limelight. Cuddeback issued into the bright glare of publicity through the medium of three drop kicks he made in the game against St. Mary's college, these nine points constituting the margin of victory and being the only scores made by either team. Whether or not Cuddeback is destined to enter into the football hall of fame remains to be seen. St. Mary's is a second grade team, being of a smaller college. Baker May Not Be In Today's Contest

Roy "Bullet" Baker, demon line plunger and rated as U. S. C.'s best backfield bet, will probably not make his appearance in this afternoon's Trojan-Occidental battle at Bovard Field, according to rumors emanating from the Methodist institution yesterday. Not having yet entirely recovered from the treatment which he received at the hands of Andy Smith's California Bears, Baker will be given no chance to further incapacitate himself for the big contest next week with Stanford.

Otto Anderson, the speedy back whose kicking has been steadily improving since the opening of the season, will undoubtedly receive the assignment left vacant by Baker, as it is thought that Henderson will want to experiment with his punting.

The World Over

By FRANKLIN R. MORSE
PACIFIC SPORTS SERVICE

Ask ten persons who are in the habit of going to both boxing and wrestling matches which they think is the toughest sport, and the chances are that nine of them will tell you that they'd rather get their punishment at the hands of a boxer than in the grip of a wrestler.

The cry of brutality is one that constantly is recurring. We haven't heard it in a couple of years, but the moment that all the plans are set for the next meeting of Jack Dempsey against some other boxer, it is dollars to doughnuts that it will come up again. There was a howl when he and Willard fought, and then again when the champion fought Carpentier.

It also will be noted that it generally is the heavyweight bout that brings on the clamor. There may be a dozen fights staged among the lighter men and you'll hear nothing. This is because there is a great deal more interest in the action of the heavyweights and they get a lot more publicity than do the little chaps.

A close scrutiny of the direction from whence comes the cry of brutality reveals the fact that it emanates from an exceedingly small minority, but it is a minority that can make a prodigiously loud howl. We seldom hear any outcry against the brutality against opposition before the Stanford conflagration. Anderson, besides being the school's best punter, is one of the speediest and shittiest men on the squad and is liable to do a considerable amount of ball carrying against Oxy this afternoon.

The line-ups for the game will be as follows:

U. S. C.	Pos.	Occidental
Boice	L. E.	Pureell
Anderson	L. T.	Cory
Hawkins	L. G.	Westgate
Lindley	C.	Priault
Calland	R. G.	Davidson
Cummings	R. T.	Meeker
Milton	R. E.	Argus
Dolley	Q.	Norton
Anderson	L. H.	Shoaf
Kincaid	R. H.	Ebers
Campbell	F.	Walker

Line Ave., 187 Line Ave., 167. Team Ave., 178. Team Ave., 162.

talities of wrestling, and yet here is a form of sport, as engaged in by professionals, that nine out of ten persons will tell you inflicts incomparably more pain on the contestants than does the game of fisticuffs.

Consider the head lock as it is used by Champion Strangler Ed Lewis. His opponent's head is crushed into a vice like grip that may last for several minutes. No sooner has he released himself from the Strangler's grip than the champion again clamps on the vicious hold and another minute or two is spent in a struggle to get out. And mind you, it is hurting all the time, so much so that men when they come out of it are dizzy and wobbly. And that is the reason that Lewis can continue to get the same hold time after time until the opponent finally succumbs. He is simply too weak to fend off the attacks.

Watch the face of the wrestler who allows himself to get into a toe hold by his opponent. The anguish expressed in his face denotes excruciating pain. It must be painful to have one's ankle contorted the way it is. There is absolutely nothing in the boxing game that parallels these wrestling grips of a punishing nature. Mere punishment is for they do not get the opponent down on his back. He merely has to give in from excess of pain so as not to get a leg or arm broken.

The writer has heard many a boxer say that nothing would induce him to get into a football game—it is too brutal. The whole thing is that the man is going into that strenuous sport which best fits his capabilities and which he most enjoys irrespective of how much it may hurt him physically at times. Like the soldier in battle, you expect to come out clear yourself and that the other fellow will get it.

In the assurance of strength there is strength, and they are the weakest, however seemingly strong, who have no faith in themselves or their power.

THE BIG SALE OF THE TENTH UNIT OF FAIRVIEW IS NOW ON

Lots in the 10th unit are of full size, exceptionally deep, have a 15-foot alley, and are sold on the same remarkably low terms that applied in the 9th unit.

Buy where lots of building is going on, where population is being acquired with remarkable rapidity, where resales are made with ease and at a substantial profit.

Buy a Lot Start a Home

If you are not able to put up a permanent home at once, we will give you immediate possession and allow you to put up a garage or temporary house of neat construction, so that your rent money is diverted into an investment channel, paying for your own property.

Hundreds of people are doing this and if you really desire to acquire a home, this is the best way we know of to start with practically no capital.

FAIRVIEW is located in one of the most desirable sections of Northwest Glendale; fine soil, magnificent view, on a beautiful slope, close to transportation, with three car stops on the property. Water, gas and electricity.

We can refer you to scores of people who, with a very small investment, made $100, $200 and $300 in our earlier units. Tenth unit lots are the best we have ever offered. Don't miss this opportunity. Let us show you today.

Drive out San Fernando Road to Alameda Street, then one block up to tract office.

JOHN W. LAWSON BANQUET GUEST

Builder of First Four-Story Structure Is Honored by Many Friends

the Chamber of Commerce, expressed his pleasure in the occasion and extended his congratulations of Mr. Lawson.

"We will not realize the importance of this building until we see the skyline change along Brand boulevard," he asserted. "We wish you success and pledge you our earnest support."

Judge Owen C. Emery, president of the Credit association, expressed his opinion that Mr. Lawson's new building will be the forerunner of a number of six, eight and ten-story buildings in Glendale.

"It is up to us to get behind not only Mr. Lawson, but the whole of Glendale," he remarked. "We must get together and boost Glendale not only from without but from within also."

"Perhaps in a few years we will have the opportunity of having Mr. Lawson back here again and giving him a banquet for the first ten-story building."

Picture of Building

A large, water-colored picture of the new building was presented to Mr. Lawson by John Usilton in behalf of Architect Alfred Priest. Mr. Usilton called attention to the fact that the erection of the new building is not the only action by which Mr. Lawson has shown his genuine interest in the community, but that he has erected a total of 218 bungalows and buildings altogether in Glendale. He expressed an opinion that such a record as a civic builder surely was worthy of recognition.

"I am simply overwhelmed," admitted Mr. Lawson, who had not been informed of the banquet in his honor until he arrived at the scene.

"The proposition is not so much my doing as the doings of the city of Glendale," he continued. "If it were not for the fact that we live in 'the fastest growing city in the United States' it would be impossible for me or anyone else to build this building. I do not think that it is any gamble at all."

The original plans for the structure called for a six-story building, according to Mr. Larson who found reason to modify them. He expressed confidence that Glendale would be a city with a population of 100,000 inside of the next five years.

"Considering everything, I don't believe that there is any chance of anybody making a mistake in buying real estate in the city of Glendale," he stated. "The values are low, especially on business property. Comparing Glendale with other cities of the same population, our prices are very low."

"A great many people today are complaining about the taxes. I would advise anybody who is complaining about their taxes to take a trip back to the Middle West. Taxes here are really comparatively cheap."

Solos were sung during the evening by Mrs. Smith MacMullin of 412 West Wilson avenue, Mrs. William P. MacMullin of 215 North Brand boulevard, both of whom were well applauded. They were accompanied by Mrs. Spencer Robinson who also accompanied her husband in singing "Auld Lang Syne."

Three tenor solos were sung by Wilbur Herwig of 338 West Colorado street, who was accompanied by Mrs. Herwig. He was officially welcomed to Glendale by Toastmaster Jones, who reminded the big crowd present that Glendale's musical colony was one of which the community could be justly proud.

Mrs. Goodman Enjoys Her Repainted Buick

Mrs. Stella Goodman is enjoying her Buick car, which has just been renovated and painted in the 1923 colors, and, while it is decorated with 1916, in a conspicuous place, it is just as presentable as a new car. The work was done by Fred Miller of 137 North Maryland avenue.

ARGUE ON WATER AND POWER ACT

Both Sides of Issue Heard at Meeting Last Night in High School

Of the thirty measures on the ballot next Tuesday many citizens believe that the Wright enforcement act (No. 2) and the water power act (No. 19) are the most vital. The Business Men's Bible class of the First Methodist church of which Cyrus Cunningham is president and Roy B. Coeur in vice president stated a most interesting debate last night at the high school auditorium on the latter measure.

Ray Morrow, assistant city attorney of Glendale, presided, while Judge John A. Burgan of Los Angeles and State Senator Lyman King of Redlands presented the two sides of the water and power act argument to a moderate-sized audience. Each one of the speakers was allowed thirty minutes after which a half hour was given to asking and answering questions.

Judge Burgan, the first speaker, explained the main features of the act, claiming that $500,000,000 is not to be placed in bonds at once or altogether in one issue. Bonds will be issued in much smaller amounts against approved self-sustaining projects in different parts of the state and must be paid out of the rates in the sections where the projects are developed, he said. In other words the various sums for bonds will be paid out of taxes as are school bonds and road bonds but out of rates charged for water and power just as corporation bonds are redeemed, he claimed.

Los Angeles city power and water projects have lowered, not raised taxes in that city.

Further, Judge Burgan claimed the people's interests would be safeguarded in the choice of the five members of the water and power board who could issue bonds only when a section could prove the project self-paying and when the state finance committee consisting of the governor and four other men would authorize such bonds.

Issues Warning

Senator Lyman King in turn warned the audience against endangering the welfare of California with the water and power act which is full of menace. In his opinion many dangers lurk in the bill.

The water and power board would be subject to all the weaknesses of politics. It would have excessive power. He read extracts from the act showing the extensive powers and how the state might take water from private parties.

Also the senator gave figures comparing Ontario's public power rates with California's private company rates, contending California's is lower. Judge Burgan disputed these statements in rebuttal.

Questions were asked by Sam A. Davis of the city council, Roy B. Coeur, W. D. Root and Henry Gross and others. It was conceded by Senator King that the state could borrow money at a lower rate than the private power corporations and also that in some cases cities that have taken over power plants from corporations have reduced prices.

Both speakers were given a rising vote of thanks for coming to Glendale to discuss this issue.

CHALMERS SIX AT ANDERS-HALFHILL

Late Model Combines Excellence of Design and Build; New Price Is $1415

From poets to automobiles is a long jump, but a look at the new model Chalmers Six, being displayed by Anders & Halfhill, 246 So. Brand, instantly brings to one's mind Shakespeare's admonition:

"Costly thy raiment, as thy purse affords; Rich, but not expressed in fancy."

For the apparel oft proclaims the man.

And Chalmers cars command attention, not only by shining nickel or superficial gaudiness, but by their excellence of design and the richness and good taste displayed throughout their construction.

Both its appearance and performance easily place the Chalmers in the high class car field, for the powerful six-cylinder Chalmers motor takes you romping over the hills on high, or gliding through traffic with an ease that thrills.

The new price of $1415, delivered, will be a pleasant surprise to automobile buyers, and surely gives a new conception of how much car an automobile dollar can buy.

STUDEBAKER CARS IN TRANSIT HERE

Will Be Sufficient to Meet Requirements of Trade for All Late Models

Delivery of Studebaker cars, which has been behind for months in Glendale, will very shortly attain a normal stride, according to an announcement made yesterday by Donald C. Packer, of the Packer Auto company, local Studebaker agents.

With two carloads of cars received this week, and with three others following on the road, Mr. Packer says his firm will be enabled to meet all local requirements for all models.

Included in the cars in transit, he confided, is the very latest in the Studebaker touring. Among the many improvements on this model, which, by the way, is an innovation in auto equipment, is an automatic windshield wiper. Other features will have to be seen to be appreciated, he said.

By way of contrasting Studebaker sales, which have been on the incline during the past few years, Mr. Packer produced a letter received from the Studebaker corporation which shows that the trade bought 29 per cent more Studebaker automobiles in 1921 than were sold the previous year, and 1920 was the best year the company ever had.

"And the prospects for sales this year showing even greater returns are very encouraging," the communication says.

Mr. Packer stated that just as soon as the late model cars arrive in the city they will be placed on exhibition in the firm's sales room at 245 South Brand boulevard.

Sparr Heights Has Varied Attractions

Sparr Heights in the "Heart of the Verdugos" is cited by the Francis-Barnum Walters company as one of the most important developments in this part of Los Angeles county. Members of the company say:

"We recognize the fact that at Sparr Heights we are, in one sense, painting a picture that will spread permanently over this beautiful section for posterity to admire or condemn. It will stand as a permanent monument to our ability to plan and to secure the services of men whose supervision and execution of that plan means our ideals will be realized."

"We mean to create the most beautiful residential tract in Southern California where natural beauty, climatic advantages and elaborate development insure a large profit to those who invest their money in this locality and it stands to reason that those who invest at present prices will reap by far the greatest profit."

The development of Sparr Heights reflects the growth of Los Angeles city and county and of this one of the members of the Sparr Heights company says:

"From a town of 50,000 population thirty years ago, with dirt streets and board sidewalks and one-horse street cars, Los Angeles' growth to its present status seems marvelous."

"The promise for the future is even more brilliant. With such projects as the Hollywood Bowl, the great stadium at Exposition park, the Goodyear plant, the Union Pacific development, the Biltmore hotel, the San Juan project, the Colorado development, Palos Verdes and Sparr Heights already started and others too numerous to mention yet to come, there remains not a doubt that the prophecy made many years ago, that Los Angeles will be one of the two largest cities in the world will be verified."
